CHINA EASES GRIP, ALIBABA SPLITS

Chinese e-commerce conglomerate Alibaba Group plans to overhaul its sprawling $257-billion empire by splitting into six business verticals as it looks to react faster to market changes and increase value

The six units are Cloud Intelligence Group, Taobao Tmall Commerce Group, Local Services Group, Cainiao Smart Logistics Group, Global Digital Commerce Group and Digital Media and Entertainment Group

Each unit will have a CEO as well as a board of directors and will retain the flexibility to raise outside capital and seek initial public offering, except for Taobao Tmall Business Group that handles China commerce, which will stay wholly owned by Alibaba Group

The revamp comes a day after its founder Jack Ma returned home ending a year-long stay abroad and when China is easing its regulatory crackdown on private firms | P15

Ukraine students to get 2 attempts to clear MBBS: SC

Govt had offered them one shot at the final exams following a panel's recommendation

SHRUTI KAKKAR @ New Delhi

IN a major relief to Indian medical students who were forced to return from Ukraine, China and the Philippines due to war and Covid-19 pandemic, the Supreme Court on Tuesday allowed them to clear their final examination in two attempts, without enrolling in any medical college in India.

This is applicable to MBBS students who returned to India in their penultimate year of studies and completed the course through online mode. The examination will be in line with the existing National Medical Council (NMC) syllabus and guidelines, a bench of judges B R Gavai and Vikram Nath said.

The bench was hearing a batch of pleas filed by students who had to leave their studies mid-way and return to India.

Earlier, the Centre had told the SC that it was ready to offer penultimate year students one chance to clear the final exams (both theory and practical) but the court modified it to two, considering the special circumstances of the case.

The Centre said the theory exam would be held centrally on the pattern of Indian MBBS exam, while the practical exam would be conducted by designated government medical colleges. The students will also have to complete two years of compulsory rotatory internship, of which the first year will be free and the second year paid as decided by the NMC.

The SC had in December 2022 asked the Centre to find a solution to the 'humane problem' faced by the medical students. "We are sure that the Union of India will give due importance to our suggestion and find out a solution for these students, who are undisputedly an asset to the nation and, particularly, when there is a dearth of doctors in the country," it had said.

Following the suggestion, the government formed a committee of experts. The Centre submitted its recommendation to the Supreme Court via an affidavit, which the court accepted on Tuesday with one modification in favour of the students.

The affidavit also made it clear that the relaxation in rules is only for the present matter and will not be treated as a precedent for issues that may arise in the future.

US watching Rahul case; internal matter, says govt

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE United States is watching Congress leader Rahul Gandhi's case in courts, US Department of State spokesperson Vedant Patel said on Monday.

"The US engages with the Indian government on a shared commitment to democratic values, including freedom of expression. Respect for the rule of law and judicial independence is a cornerstone of any democracy, and we're watching Rahul Gandhi case," Patel said in a briefing while responding to a question regarding Rahul's conviction in a defamation case and disqualification from Parliament.

On being asked whether the US was engaging with India or Rahul, he said, "I don't have any specific engagements to read out" though it is normal "to engage with members of opposition parties in any country where we have bilateral relationships".

A BJP lawmaker in Gujarat had sued Rahul for defamation for his Modi surname slur in 2019.

However, Union I&B Minister Anurag Thakur dismissed the US remarks at a media event, saying the official had made a generic statement.

"It is our internal matter. No one is above the Supreme Court. There are judicial and constitutional institutions. They (the US) have made a generic statement," he said.

Cong neta among 3 held for protest at BSY's house

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Shivamogga

THE police on Tuesday registered four FIRs and arrested three persons for throwing stones at former chief minister BS Yediyurappa's house at Shikaripura during a protest on Monday by members of the Banjara community over internal reservation for SCs.

Sources said local Congress leader Raghavendra Naik was among the arrested. Meanwhile, Banjaras blocked the Shivamogga-Shikaripura highway near Kunchenahalli on Tuesday demanding that the state government withdraw its decision on internal reservation. Traffic on the highway was disrupted for some time when the protesters burnt coconut fronds there.

Security has been tightened around Yediyurappa's house after Monday's protest. Home Minister Araga Jnanendra, who visited Yediyurappa's house, termed Monday's incident unfortunate and said it happened due to misunderstanding and provocation by some people. "Yediyurappa has special affection for Banjaras.

He has fulfilled many of their demands. Yediyurappa played a big role in the development of Sooragondanakoppa, the birthplace of Sant Seva Lal. But, some protesters threw stones at Yediyurappa's house on Monday. Yediyurappa had requested not to take action against the protesters and said he would speak to the community leaders. But, I am pained by the attack on policemen during the protest. People took law into their hands," Jnanendra told reporters.

He alleged that some people, who had four to five cases against them in the past, were involved in the clash and provoked the protesters. SP Mithun Kumar G K confirmed that three persons had been arrested in connection with Monday's violence.

Make pol choices carefully: Scindia

Minister lists youth development programmes undertaken by central government

Minister for Civil Aviation Jyotiraditya Scindia interacts with a student of East Point College of Engineering in Bengaluru on Tuesday | EXPRESS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

CIVIL Aviation Minister Jyotiraditya Scindia, who was addressing the first-time voters at 'Yuva Samvada' organised by East Point College of Engineering on Tuesday, said that youth are the future of India, and they should make their political choices carefully.

Scindia ran up to the stage as he was late, and asked the speaker, who was introducing him, to keep it short.

"India has risen like a phoenix over the last nine year on the global stage. The country is heading towards becoming the third-largest economy," Scindia said.

Enumerating on the development programmes undertaken by Prime Minister Narendra Modi-led central government for the youth, he said, "The emphasis on development can be understood from the fact that national highway road network has doubled from 75,600 km. From just two airports, Karnataka now has 10, while the country now has 84,012 startups form just 416 in 2013-2014."

Of the 84,012 startups, 115 are unicorns and 39 of them are in India's Silicon Valley, he said as the crowd responded with a round of applause.

Internet penetration has jumped from 25 crore connections in 2014 to 85 crore, he said, adding that the digital revolution has brought down the cost of data from around Rs 300/GB to Rs 13/GB, ensuring greater access for all.

Hundreds of students in the audience were waiting for an opportunity to ask their questions to Scindia and Bengaluru South MP Tejasvi Surya, but only two questions were allowed as Scindia had a flight to catch.

BBMP'S CELEBRITY PUSH FOR HIGH TURNOUT

Bengaluru: To create awareness among voters, the Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) has roped in icons from various fields as part of the 'Namma Bengaluru Icons' programme. International Badminton champion and recipient of Arjuna Award, Anup Sridhar, international Kabaddi player and another Arjuna awardee Tejaswini Bai V, international para-swimmer Sharat M Gaikwad, tribal singer Mohan Kumar N, and Kannada actor Anand H (Master Anand) are the icons who will create awareness among voters, and inspire them for a better turnout on polling day. BBMP Chief Commissioner Tushar Girinath said, "To ensure smooth voting, ballot paper and polling station information will be given 10 days in advance. Voters can also enter voter ID card details in the VHA software for information," he said. "It is the duty and responsibility of every citizen to vote. Earlier, there were no facilities around polling stations. However, when all facilities are provided, the turnout is very low," Girinath added. City police commissioner Pratap Reddy said that voters should come out in large numbers and participate in the electoral process. "Bengaluru is a fast growing city, but the polling percentage is lower than other cities," he said. Special Commissioner of Election Division, Ujwal Kumar Ghosh, Chief Executive Officer of Bengaluru City ZP, and Chairman of District SVEEP Committee, Sangappa, additional district election officer Dr Harish Kumar were present.

No activity in Mallathahalli lake minus nod: HC to BBMP

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court directed Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) to deny permission for any construction, commercial and recreational activities at Mallathahalli lake.

Based on a PIL, a Division Bench of Justices B Veerappa and Venkatesh Naik directed that an individual or any group or political party should not be allowed to use the tank area for recreation or celebrations to protect the tank.

Social activist Geetha Mishra moved court challenging BBMP's decision to allow RR Nagar constituency BJP leader Govindaraju to erect a Shiva statue on the tank bund for Shivaratri in February, violating Section 12 of the Karnataka Conservation and Development Authority Act.

"Since the total area of the tank is 71.18 acres, the water spread area of 42 acres which is now increased to 44 acres, should not be allowed to decrease. It must be ensured that no individual or group or political parties be allowed to construct any permanent structure within the tank area or pollute the water in the lake area or in the Kalyani," the court said.

The court also said the authorities should ensure that the Kalyani is cleaned immediately after the festivities, and that the Kalyani water should not merge with the tank water or vice versa.

The BBMP counsel submitted that construction of a glass house and hanging bridge will be put on hold, and will not start without the court's permission.

The court directed that the BBMP should obtain their permission since the projects will violate Section 12 of the Act.

Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai on Tuesday virtually inaugurated nine universities from Bengaluru's Jnana Jyoti Hall. Along with this, the project for developing seven new colleges as Karnataka Institute of Technology (KIT) was also launched to improve the quality of technological education.

The nine universities will be set up in Chamarajanagar, Hassan, Kodagu, Haveri, Koppal, Bagalkot and Bidar, along with integrated universities of Mandya and Raichur. They have been set up under the New Education Policy's 'One District, One University'.

Over the last two years, the state government has laid emphasis on improving the health and education, said Bommai, adding that KIT aims for providing best quality of technical education to the youth to be at par with the IITs over the next five years.

KIT will sign multiple MoUs with global educational institutions, which will help students in gathering knowledge to provide solutions to global challenges, he stated.

LEOPARD SAFARI AT BBP TO BE DELAYED BY TWO MORE MONTHS

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

THE much-awaited leopard safari will take another two months to open in Bannerghatta Biological Park (BBP). The project, which was pending for the past two to three years, could now be delayed due to elections, fear zoo management officials.

"Everything is ready, the space has been identified and leopards have also been acclimatised. Solar fencing is yet to be done. But tendering could be delayed because of polls," said a senior BBP official.

With MCC likely to come into effect any time now, the Zoo Authority of Karnataka (ZAK) is being cautious in clearing projects. "We don't want to get into any political controversy. If it's delayed now, summer holidays will end, and the exercise will turn futile," said a ZAK official.

BBP has carved out 50 hectares of land for the safari, of which 10 hectares will be opened in the first phase. Six leopards have been housed and acclimatised in the safari and kraal area. "As per guidelines by the Zoo Authority of India, only hand-reared and zoo born leopards will be released in the safari. Since leopards are known to jump from great heights and are swift climbers, thorough fencing is required. Solar fencing will be ideal," said the BBP official.

This will be the second leopard safari in India, after Maharashtra. It will be bigger than Maharashtra's, officials said. It will come up between the existing sloth bear and carnivore safaris.

29TH March : Today's Moon happens to be in a very lively zone of the sky. It's a dramatic moment globally, and anything could happen. It's time for our leaders to act with the greatest possible wisdom, and steer the world through choppy waters to a safe haven. It's a moment for all of us to exercise due caution as well!

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
It's a day for movement and communication. Your secret nomadic tendencies may emerge, making you even more restless, but what is really at stake is your ability to digest the facts and express yourself clearly and persuasively. Try to see the big picture, just for a change.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
Business and financial choices are looming, as they seem to do about once a month! This time round though, you may be able to settle questions which date back anything up to a year, and even plan for the next twelve months. Plus, a new element enters in the form of a desire to do good.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
The Moon is making friends and colleagues think again. Or, at least, a guilty conscience might be stirring! It's therefore an ideal moment for considering the successes and failures of the past six to twelve months and working out how to do things better over the coming year!

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
There is a lot to be said for closing your eyes and not taking too much notice of other people's silly gossip and rumours. One way for you to get the best out of the day is to get involved in a charitable enterprise, or just do your bit to make the world a better place.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
No one seems willing to share your burdens or even offer you much-needed moral support. This is as it should be, for Saturn is teaching you a very valuable lesson, which is to stand on your own two feet. Once you've learnt that, Jupiter will confer its rewards.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
Today's ambitious Moon has a powerful professional pattern. It's one of those aspects which advises you to press ahead with all worldly ambitions, including anything which will bring recognition in your community. Does that attract you? I hope so!

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
Although the Moon is indicating an increase in tension, on this particular occasion it is helpfully aligned to your sign. You may therefore usefully widen your vistas and plan adventurous moves. Make peace your priority, and see to it that you prosper by making friends.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
No matter what other people have or have not done, you will have to stop judging them and concentrate instead on your own motives. If you have been relying on financial or business values, you should now think again, especially if a matter of the heart is involved.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
The Moon's key aspects align almost exactly with the heart of that sensitive region of your chart responsible for being of service to others. You may be able to take the initiative, but rather more likely is the prospect that partners will seize the limelight in ways you never thought possible.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
Stay busy. Today's dominant planetary aspect puts the emphasis fairly and squarely on work, and even at home you should concentrate on dealing with whatever backlog of chores has built up. It's all a matter of clearing the decks, and making space for future pleasures.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
Your pleasure zones are being stimulated by the Moon, and the result could be frustration if you are absolutely tied to your routine, but a splendid day if you are able to break out of a rut. Of course, if you take a risk, you have to be happy with the consequences, however they result.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
On no account should you allow upsets or disputes in your personal life to disturb the status quo. The point is that even though you may feel unsettled over the next forty-eight hours, the pressures should soon evaporate. And if you're planning for the long-term, take a look at your cash-flow.

DKS offering Cong tickets to BJP MLAs: Bommai

'GOP lacks able candidates to contest polls, shows it's in total ruin'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Belagavi, Mysuru

CHIEF Minister Basavaraj Bommai on Tuesday made a serious allegation that KPCC president DK Shivakumar has been desperately making phone calls to all BJP MLAs, offering them party tickets if they switch over to Congress.

"For the last two to three days, Shivakumar is making phone calls to our MLAs and offering them Congress tickets if they defect to the Grand Old Party," he said. Shivakumar has become desperate ahead of elections as Congress does not have able candidates to contest the polls. Given the way he has been contacting BJP MLAs, it is clear that Congress is in total ruin, he added. On the announcement of BJP list of candidates, he said it will come out on in the first week of April.

Give me a chance to become CM: DKS

KPCC president DK Shivakumar on Tuesday made an emotional appeal to voters to support Congress in the coming Assembly elections to find a solution to the problems haunting the state.

"I am your son. You have already given JDS an opportunity. You should also give me a chance in this election," he appealed to voters.

Janata Dal (Secular) will not come to power, and its supporters should back Congress to stop BJP from coming back to power, he said.

Speaking at the party's Praja Dhawni Yatra at Srirangapatna, he said Congress has vowed to prevent a hung Assembly and to stop BJP from extending support to JDS and enjoy power vicariously.

Claiming that Mandya district will create history by returning Congress MLAs from all the seven constituencies, he said that though in the last election, all the seven MLAs were from JDS, they failed to bring any changes in the district. Why did the MLAs fail to rise to the plight of hundreds of traders and businessmen, who have lost their livelihoods after the Bengaluru-Mysuru Expressway was built? Why have they not come to the rescue of farmers, who are in deep trouble, he asked. He said Congress has come out with four promises to bail out people who are worst hit by price rise and other issues, wrought by BJP. "We are committed to fulfilling our promises of spending Rs 50,000 crore by putting an end to corruption," he added.

The party promises include 200 units of free power, Rs 2,000 every month to women head of the family, 10 kg rice under the Annabaghya scheme and Rs 3,000 assistance to unemployed youth.

He said that BJP leaders CT Ravi and Dr CN Ashwath Narayan tried to defame the Vokkaliga community over Tipu Sultan's death, but were stopped by the community leaders.

CM Basavaraj Bommai unveiled the statues of Dr BR Ambedkar, Kittur Rani Channamma and Sangolli Rayanna at Suvarna Vidhana Soudha in Belagavi on Tuesday

B'LURU A TOUGH PUZZLE FOR CONGRESS, BJP

ASHWINI M SRIPAD
@ Bengaluru

THE ruling BJP and Opposition Congress are aware that the key to power lies in the capital city. Both parties, wracked by insider versus outsider tussles, are striving to capture Bengaluru, which plays a crucial role in government formation in Karnataka.

It is believed that whoever wins more seats in Bengaluru, comes to power in the state. In 2008, BJP won 17 seats in Bengaluru, Congress won 10 and JDS one seat, and the BJP came to power. In the 2013 polls, Congress won 14, BJP 12 and JDS two seats, after which Congress formed the government. In 2018, BJP won 11 seats, Congress 14 and JDS three seats. There was a coalition government, but when the turncoats joined BJP in 2019, the bypolls gave 15 seats to BJP, 11 to Congress and two to JDS. BJP ruled the state.

Bengaluru, with 28 assembly constituencies, is crucial for all political parties. However, allotting tickets to candidates in Bengaluru appears to be a challenge for both the BJP and Congress, as many constituencies have turncoat MLAs, sparking off a power struggle between old and new party leaders.

Though BJP won four seats in the 2019 bypolls, it has led to friction within the party as old-timers are denied tickets to contest from a few seats, as ST Somashekar, Byrathi Basavaraj, Munirathna and K Gopaliah are the party candidates. "In 2019, we worked for the turncoats, as elections was fought under BS Yediyurappa's leadership. We had worked against these same turncoats in 2018. Local leaders and workers are not happy to work for them again in 2023," said a BJP worker, on condition of anonymity.

The Congress, too, faces a similar situation. After BJP MLC Puttanna's name was announced as the Congress candidate for Rajajinagar, discontent set in. Former deputy mayor BS Puttaraju, the party aspirant, even threatened to contest as a rebel candidate. Congress spokesperson Bhavya Narasimhamurthy, another contender, and her followers expressed displeasure over the choice.

In Pulikeshinagar, former CM Siddaramaiah is batting for sitting MLA Akhanda Srinivasa Murthy, while KPCC president DK Shivakumar favours former mayor Sampath Raj. Significantly, Sampath Raj was arrested for setting Akhanda's house on fire. Rizwan Arshad was given the ticket from Shivajinagar, which is not acceptable to a section of Congress workers who were earlier working for then MLA Roshan Baig.

Virupakshappa in Lokayukta police custody till April 1

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

A special court on Tuesday remanded Channagiri Bharatiya Janata Party MLA Madal Virupakshappa to Lokayukta police custody till April 1 in connection with a corruption case involving tenders in Karnataka Soaps and Detergents Limited (KSDL).

Lokayukta police had arrested Virupakshappa on Monday evening after his interim anticipatory bail plea was rejected by the Karnataka High Court.

Meanwhile, the Karnataka High Court allowed Sri Ram Sene to withdraw the PIL, seeking order to constitute a SIT for a court-monitored probe or handover the case to CBI, and submit a representation over its grievances against Lokayukta probe. A Division Bench of Chief Justice Prasanna B Varale and Justice MGS Kamal said that the competent authority has to decide on the representation expeditiously.

The petitioner, represented by Manikanta K, Sri Ram Sene Davanagere district convenor, alleged that the delay in arresting Virupakshappa though he was at home, allowing him to secure the bail, and change of investigating officer caste doubt on the impartiality of investigation.

When the State Government is facing corruption allegation, they cannot inspire confidence in the minds of the public, it was contended. Therefore, the investigation should be entrusted either to Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI) or to a court-ordered Special Investigation Team.

BJP, Cong exchange barbs over reservation

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

AS the Banjara community members took to the streets to protest against the State Government's decision on the internal reservation in the Scheduled Castes (SC), Opposition Congress and the ruling BJP leaders were engaged in a political slugfest over the issue.

State Congress president DK Shivakumar said internal differences in the BJP resulted in protests outside former CM BS Yediyurappa's residence in Shikaripura on Monday. He said it was okay if stones were pelted at the CM's residence or the residences of those in power, but Yediyurappa's house was targeted due to an internal fight within BJP.

He accused CM Basavaraj Bommai of creating confusion over the issue. There should not be any change in the reservation for Muslims and changes made by BJP will be scrapped after the Congress comes to power in 40 days, he said. "It is a foolish move by the Bommai government," he added.

BJP leaders, including Bommai, hit back by accusing the Congress of instigating the protest. It was caught on camera by the police that the local Congress leaders were involved in the protests at the former CM's residence, the CM said. "It was a well-planned conspiracy by the Congress leaders and they tried to misguide people by telling them that the community will be removed from the Scheduled Castes," the CM said.

NEW MATRIX MAY AFFECT ASSEMBLY POLL OUTCOME

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

IT is a big question as to how the state government's tampering with the internal reservation, affecting some sections of Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes, would change the outcome of the Assembly elections. SC/STs together account for 51 seats in Karnataka, and the recent changes in the reservation matrix could affect the voting pattern. While the SC left groups whose numbers are smaller have been quiet, it is the SC right who are upset and protesting.

Congress leader Dr G Parameshwara said, "I welcome internal reservation, but it should stand the test of legal scrutiny." The state saw the number of reserved seats going up from 37 to 51 after the delimitation process. While political reservation has come to SC/STs, they are looking for education and employment reservation. The Bhovi, Lambani, Korachar and Korama communities have been upset that their share of the quota would be affected with the recent move and they are the ones protesting. It would be difficult to convince them about the fairness of the decision.

Prakash Rathod, chief whip of Congress in the Council -- who hails from the Lambani community, said, "On what grounds were these internal reservation rules framed, considering that the Sadashiva Commission and Nagamohan Das Commission reports have not been made public?"

Parameshwara said, "If the government was serious about increasing reservation to certain communities, they should have sent it to Delhi a few months earlier, as soon as it was passed here. Union minister A Narayanaswamy said on March 14 that it had not been sent. Of course, now they will say it has been sent. How will they implement it if they send it now? Is it not just a drama?" Chairman of the second National SC and ST Commission and former MP H Hanumanthappa said bluntly, "Is it as per rules? Is reservation just a commodity in the market to be handed over to whoever screams the loudest, or is it as per the whims of any political party? There are oppressed and depressed castes and they have been given reservation because of historical wrongs and this has a statutory and a constitutional recognition. Is this kind of an order by the government, without a proper public debate on the floor of the house, correct?"

But BJP defended the decision, saying it is just and proper. Amit Malaviya of the saffron party tweeted, "It is a massive push for social justice."

BJP flags removed, leaders stopped from entering tandas

BELAGAVI: The ongoing agitation by the Lambani community against internal reservation for Scheduled Castes turned serious in Bagalkot on Tuesday as youth leaders from several sections of the community erected banners in several Lambani tandas in Bagalkot region, preventing the entry of BJP leaders into the tandas. At Muchandi tanda, near Bagalkot, the agitators removed BJP flags from several poles and houses, condemning the decision of the BJP government in the state. Several youth leaders from Lambani tandas said they have decided to prevent the entry of all BJP leaders and workers into various tandas, including Achanur, Neelanagar, Jadramkunti, Lavaleshwar, Gulbal, Shiraguppi, Amingad, Kamatagi, Bilagi, etc., and banners have been displayed to stop them. ENS

Will it pose threat to Vijayendra's political future?

MARX TEJASWI @ Shivamogga

THERE are murmurs in political circles in Shivamogga district that the anger among the Banjara community following the State Government's move to implement internal reservation for SCs and the scrapping of quota for Muslims could pose a threat to the political future of former chief minister BS Yediyurappa's son BY Vijayendra. This comes at a time when Yediyurappa is trying to field his son from Shikaripura.

As per the latest electoral roll, the total number of voters in the segment is 1,95,371. Even though there is no official data on caste wise voters, the Banjara community is the second largest after Lingayats in the seat. While the Banjara voters are around 30,000, Lingayats, including all sub-castes, account for over 60,000 and the Muslim number around 25,000. While Yediyurappa has been enjoying the support of the Banjara community, Muslims also support him, thanks to his secular image.

Yediyurappa established the Tanda Development Corporation and provided basic amenities to the Banjara localities. He had also released grants for the development of a Banjara pilgrimage centre at Suragondanakoppa.

Even though Yediyurappa is not in the government, the SC internal reservation announcement and scrapping of the 4% reservation for Muslims by the government has caused concern among his supporters.

Shikaripura has been the stronghold of Yediyurappa since 1983, the first time he contested and defeated K Yankannappa (Congress). He went on to retain the constituency until Congress' Mahalingappa defeated him in 1999.

As he contested the Lok Sabha elections in 2014, he sacrificed the seat for his elder son Raghavendra who won the bypoll held in the same year. Yediyurappa won from Shikaripura in the 2018 Assembly polls.

The Congress is also alleging that Yediyurappa's rivals within the BJP were behind the recent stone-throwing incident and are hatching a conspiracy against Yediyurappa to defeat Vijayendra. There is also an opinion that if the Congress, unlike in previous elections, manages to field a strong candidate against Vijayendra, the contest could be a thriller.

BJP seeks action against Surjewala

BENGALURU: The state BJP has made an appeal to the Chief Electoral Officer, Karnataka, to register a complaint against AICC general secretary Randeep Surjewala for allegedly making a derogatory statement against Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai. Surjewala recently called Bommai a 'Modern Shakuni' and said Bommai was dividing society through reservation. In their complaint, the BJP legal cell also mentioned Surjewala's statement on Tirupathi. "Surjewala is trying to disturb communal harmony in the society. By giving such statements, Surjewala is trying to mislead voters," the complaint added.

Rahul to address rally in Kolar on April 5

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Kolar

FORMER Congress president Rahul Gandhi will address a public rally in Kolar on April 5. This will be Rahul's first public rally after he was disqualified as a Member of Parliament following his conviction in a defamation case.

Addressing the media here, senior Congress leader KH Muniyappa said apart from Rahul, several central leaders of the party will address the rally.

The decision to hold the rally in Kolar assumes significance as it was where Rahul made the speech in 2019 ahead of the Lok Sabha election that led to a defamation case being filed against him. A Surat court convicted him and sentenced him to two years in prison, resulting in his disqualification as Wayanad MP.

Muniyappa, however, said the final venue and time will be decided after consulting with party leaders.

"The Congress and Rahul Gandhi got tremendous response to the Bharat Jodo Yatra. He is being targeted by a few who are unable to tolerate his growth," Muniyappa alleged.

"People of the nation are keenly watching every step of the BJP and will teach them a lesson in the upcoming Karnataka Assembly election and also in the 2024 general elections," he said. Meanwhile, only followers of the former Union minister were present at the press meet despite MLCs Nazeer Ahmed and Anil Kumar being present in Kolar.

REDDY BOARDS CHOPPER AFTER 13 YEARS

KIRAN BALANNANAVAR
@ Ballari

AFTER 13 long years, Kalyana Rajya Pragati Paksha (KRPP) founder and former minister Gali Janardhana Reddy travelled by a helicopter, which he has hired from his friend. He recently shared images of him travelling in the helicopter on social media sites.

He also spoke about how attached he felt to Ballari while flying over the mining town.

Reddy, an accused in a mining scam, once owned two helicopters. But they are now attached by the Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI) after raids on him over the scam.

An emotionally charged Reddy said, "I got a chance to travel in a helicopter and it's been 13 years since I have boarded a chopper. I was so happy after seeing my birthplace and one of my favourite places, Ballari, by sky."

He said, "I got an opportunity to pass over Ballari city while I was travelling to Sindhanur town to participate in a party event. I was emotional after seeing my city. Presently I am restricted from entering Ballari, but when I seen Ballari by sky I feel blessed."

One of his followers from Ballari said Reddy needs a helicopter now as the countdown has begun for the Assembly polls.

Kalyana Rajya Pragati Paksha founder Janardhana Reddy shared a post on his social media account, saying he was boarding a helicopter after 13 years. The post went viral.

DIGITAL ADDICTION THE NEW BANE IN VILLAGES

Doctors counsel children addicted to phones in rural areas

NAMRATA SINDWANI @ Bengaluru

IT is not just city dwellers who are battling fatigue, lack of sleep, headaches, red eyes, besides irritability and quarrels with families. Even those living in the relatively quieter environs of villages are facing the issue of digital addiction.

Doctors have found that rural populations are increasingly getting addicted to mobiles and technology, and are as much in need of counselling as people in urban areas are. They said there is a need to create awareness among people about technology addiction, and provide medical intervention when required. Dr HS Shashidhar, medical director, Manasa Group of Hospitals, Chikkaballapur, said there is no difference in the number of people addicted to tech gadgets in rural and urban setups. People sitting near tea stalls in villages, thumbing mobiles, are a more common sight than those playing or doing other physical activities.

During consultations with doctors, the most common complaint by parents is that their child refuses to eat without watching something on screen. They say the child is adamant and does not obey them, unless given a phone in hand. Digital detox centres, recently started by Dr Shashidhar, are a first-of-its-kind of rural centres set up to provide free consultation to children and parents.

Pranjali Chakraborty Thakur, a PhD scholar from National Institute of Mental Health Sciences (Nimhans) also said that post pandemic, technology addiction has become a serious issue. Nimhans had started 'Service for Healthy Use of Technology (SHUT) clinics in 2014 to address the issue, and recently started a detox helpline to help counsel people to balance the use of technology in daily routine. Thakur said that many parents call the helpline, seeking help to understand why their children are addicted to tech gadgets, and take relevant measures to help them.

To extend help to people in rural areas of Karnataka, Dr Shashidhar plans to open ten more centres in Devanahalli, Yelahanka, Doddaballapur and other districts.

26-yr-old bar bender stabbed to death, cops question friend

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

A 26-year-old youth was stabbed to death in New Taragupet in VV Puram police station limits on Monday evening. The motive behind the murder is yet to be ascertained.

The deceased has been identified as Ramesh, who hailed from Nepal and worked as a bar bender in Tavarekere. He was married about five years ago and his wife stays in Nepal while he lived with his father-in-law in Tavarekere.

The police said Ramesh had come to the city with his friend Indra on Monday evening and they both consumed alcohol at a bar. At around 8pm, they came near a dilapidated building located on the 4th cross of New Taragupet. Indra left saying he would have a cup of coffee and return soon while Ramesh was alone at the building.

"When Indra returned, he found Ramesh's body in a pool of blood and rushed him to Victoria Hospital with the help of passersby but was declared brought dead. It is found that the assailants have murdered Ramesh by stabbing him in the neck. We are investigating to identify the killers. We are also questioning Indra, as his role can't be ruled out," the police added.

ED ATTACHES ASSETS WORTH ₹114CR

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Enforcement Directorate has provisionally attached properties worth Rs 114.19 crore pertaining to various defaulter borrowers of Sri Guru Raghavendra Sahakara Bank Niyamitha, under the Prevention of Money Laundering Act (PMLA) 2002, in connection with misappropriation of public deposits of more than Rs 800 crore.

In an official release on Tuesday, the ED stated that the attached assets are in the form of 21 immovable properties consisting of vacant lands, residential houses, commercial and industrial buildings and movable properties in the form of bank balance of Rs 3.15 crore.

The ED had earlier attached properties worth Rs 45.33 crore of the accused, and the same was confirmed by the competent authority. The Central agency had also arrested four persons in the case, including then president of the bank. The ED had initiated investigation under PMLA in 2020, based on an FIR registered by Bengaluru police under various sections of the Indian Penal Code (IPC) and Karnataka Protection of Interest Depositors in Financial Establishments Act, against various defaulter borrowers of the bank. "Investigation revealed that the defaulter borrowers, in connivance with the management and employees of the bank, had taken huge loans from the bank on the basis of bogus deposits and fake fixed deposits, and siphoned off the money deposited by the public. The bank promised to give higher interest rates to the depositors, which was not in line with the prevailing market rate. Most of the depositors of the bank are senior citizens, who have deposited their retirement funds with the bank for their financial security in their dotage, which was advanced to various persons by the bank without obtaining proper security for the loans," stated the ED.

GURU RAGHAVENDRA BANK SCAM

"The borrowers, who have taken loans without giving adequate security, have not repaid the same, and the loans have become overdue. The bank management created fictitious loan accounts and transferred money to these accounts, which in turn was transferred to overdue loan accounts for evergreening purpose, to show strong financial health of the bank to lure more depositors," added the agency.

Agniveers will add to Naval strength, says Admiral Hari Kumar

HEMANT KUMAR ROUT
@ INS Chilika (Odisha)

CHIEF of Naval Staff Admiral R Hari Kumar on Tuesday said the Indian Navy is keenly watching the emerging situations and is always combat ready. "The Indian Navy is well-prepared. We are the largest resident naval power in the Indian Ocean region. Ships, aircraft and submarines are monitoring every movement. We are strategising as per the developments. Agniveers passing out will add to the Naval strength," he said, after reviewing the maiden night passing out parade (POP) of the first batch of 2,585 Agniveers, including 272 women, at INS Chilika.

Agniveers march at INS Chilika on Tuesday | DEBADATTA MALLICK

The Agnipath scheme was rolled out in June last year. This is the first time the Indian Navy has recruited women below the officer level. The Admiral complimented the Agniveers for an excellent drill movement that reflected a high level of motivation, pride and cohesion achieved through training. It was a red letter day for INS Chilika as the Agniveers of the Navy among the three branches of the Armed Forces passed out first with flying colours.

"There are many firsts associated with the event. This was the Navy's first batch of Agniveer trainees, comprising both men and women sailors, who were inducted for the first time. The POP in the night was also conducted for the first time," he said.

Addressing the passing-out trainees, the Admiral urged them to hone their skills further and develop a strong foundation of knowledge, besides the commitment to excel in their respective careers that lay ahead. He also urged the maritime warriors to uphold the Navy's core values of duty, honour and courage, in pursuit of nation-building.

Describing the enthusiasm among women to join the Armed Forces, he said, of the 10 lakh applications received for the first batch, 82,000 were from women aspirants, among whom 274 were selected. "After the pan-India merit-based Agnipath recruitment scheme, the Navy oriented its selection, training and deployment methodology to lay the foundation of a contemporary, dynamic, younger and technically-equipped future-ready force. The Agniveers are trained to do everything -- from firing rifles to missiles and operating radars to engine maintenance," he said.

EPS ASSUMES FULL CHARGE OF AIADMK

Madras HC rejects applications by OPS

T MURUGANANDHAM & R SIVAKUMAR @ Chennai

LEAVING behind several legal hurdles, Edappadi K Palaniswami has emerged triumphant on Tuesday. Just after the Madras High Court rejected the petition of the deposed leader O Panneerselvam at 10.30 am, AIADMK election commissioners swung into action and announced the election of EPS as the general secretary of the AIADMK, the principal opposition party, in the state.

AIADMK general secretary Edappadi K Palaniswami wears glasses and a cap, as worn by former Tamil Nadu CM MG Ramachandran, in Chennai on Tuesday

The party is likely to inform the election result to the Election Commission of India to seek its approval. The all-powerful post, which was held by MGR and J Jayalalithaa, will empower EPS to call the shots in the party and prepare it for the 2024 general elections. In the morning, as lawyers owing allegiance to EPS and OPS swarmed the courtroom, it was an unusual atmosphere of anxiety and expectation. Justice K Kumaresh Babu told the crowded courtroom that the court is rejecting the petitions by Panneerselvam and his supporters. They had sought a stay on the polls for the general secretary post of the party.

Referring to the AIADMK's general council held on July 11, 2022, the court reasoned that the resolutions passed by it with an overwhelming majority must be considered prima facie as valid. The court verdict has come as a fatal blow to Panneerselvam, who was putting up a tough battle against Palaniswami's attempt to abolish dual leadership in the party which was shared between the duo. Shaken by the judgment, lawyers representing OPS rushed to a division bench headed by Justice R Mahadevan to make a mention of an appeal against the single judge's order. The bench promised to take it up on Wednesday if a petition is filed.

KTR sues Cong's Revanth, BJP's Sanjay

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Hyderabad

IT & Industries Minister KT Rama Rao on Tuesday sent legal notices to TPCC president A Revanth Reddy and BJP State unit president Bandi Sanjay Kumar in relation to the claims they made over the Telangana State Public Service Commission (TSPSC) paper leak issue. He warned them to face a defamation suit of ₹100 crore if they do not withdraw their allegations and issue a public apology.

The notices, sent by the minister's lawyers, said both the leaders were trying to tarnish his image. "The imputations/statements will harm the reputation of my client in the estimation of others and lowers the character of my client in respect of his calling. By these acts, you have rendered yourself liable for both prosecution for an offence of defamation punishable u/s 500 of the Indian Penal Code (IPC) as defined u/s 499 of the IPC and also made yourself liable for exemplary damages. Though the loss suffered by my client on account of your acts are incalculable and irreparable in terms of money, my client calculates damages at a token sum of ₹100 crore," the notice said.

Earlier, Rama Rao said that Revanth and Sanjay proved their ignorance by dragging the Telangana government and him into the issue of paper leak without understanding the autonomous nature of the constitutionally-established Public Service Commission.

Stating that there is a terrible conspiracy by both the BJP and the Congress to stall the entire recruitment process, Rama Rao also said that MPs Bandi Sanjay and Revanth Reddy earlier termed the Telangana government's job notifications a conspiracy and their comments that the youth should put aside their preparation and get into politics reflect the deceitful mentality of these leaders.

'Ecosystem needed to spur short-haul traffic'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

FOUR building blocks need to be put in place to be able to spur short-haul traffic in the country, Union Civil Aviation Minister Jyotiraditya M Scindia said here on Tuesday, during a brief chat with the media.

"EvTOLS (electric vertical takeoff and landing systems) have the capability to transport both human traffic as well as cargo. But there are two fundamental things that have to be put in place. First is the harmonisation of standards and rules internationally by both FAA (Federal Aviation Administration) and IATA (International Air Transport Association). FAA is in the process of approving certain standards. The US passed the Air Mobility Bill in October 2022."

The second is in terms of international regulations. Again, logistical infrastructure like setting up of vertiports and charging centres for eVTOLS are crucial.

Partners in progress

To a query on government support for this sector in terms of infrastructure, Scindia said, "I believe we are partners in progress. Industry, government and stakeholders need to sit together to make sure this is the seminal centre for new growth in the world. There is no one-stop prescription for it."

The Union Civil Aviation Minister said, "I have met many US manufacturers during my visit to the Blade factory. Many of them are very keen about the market potential India has. I am sure just like the drone sector, civil aviation has witnessed unparallel growth, and so will this sector grow."

Odisha lost 49 leopards, six tigers in 10 yrs

ENS @ Bhubaneswar

ODISHA lost at least six tigers and 49 leopards in the last one decade, Forest and Environment Minister Pradip Kumar Amat informed the Assembly on Tuesday. Of these deaths, at least 29 are attributed to poaching.

Replying to a question, the minister said at least six tigers have died in the state between 2012-13 and 2021-22, of which three were due to poaching. The minister said measures are being taken to increase the big cat population in Odisha. The government, apart from implementing two tiger projects, has also formed anti-poaching camps and deployed special squads.

Prisoner, who threatened Gadkari, moved to M'rashtra

SUNIL PATIL @ Belagavi

THE Nagpur police took a prisoner from Hindalaga Jail, Jayesh Kantha alias Jayesh Pujari, who allegedly made threatening calls to Union Road Transport and Highways Minister Nitin Gadkari, to Maharashtra for further questioning, on Tuesday.

Pujari, a double-murder convict in Mangaluru was imprisoned at Hindalga Central Jail of Belagavi. The prisoner Jayesh Pujari had made threat calls Union Minister Gadkari's office in Nagpur on January 14 and March 21, this year using a cell phone from Hindalga Central Jail. He had threatened to explode a bomb if Union Minister Gadkari did not pay Rs 100 crore. Following this, the Maharashtra police started investigating the matter.

The prisoner made phone calls to the minister's public relations office in Nagpur on March 21 before the investigation was completed. On that day, he made three calls demanding payment of Rs 10 crore and gave a life threat if the amount was not paid. The Nagpur police in Maharashtra were shocked by these calls. A case was registered at Nagpur police station and investigations began.

Communities spar over Quran recitation in Belur

ENS @ Belur (Hassan)

TENSION prevailed for a while in this heritage temple town, after a youth allegedly raised slogans in support of the Quran, when members of pro-Hindu organisations, including the Bajrang Dal, were staging a protest against Quran recitation during the car festival of Sri Chennakeshava Temple on Tuesday. The car festival of Lord Chennakeshava will be held on April 4.

A youth came on a bike and allegedly raised the slogans, before attempting to flee. Upset, members of the pro-Hindu organisations chased down the miscreant and caught him. A heated exchange was reported to have taken place between members of Muslim and Hindu organisations. However, timely police intervention brought the situation under control. Sakib Pasha, who allegedly raised the slogans, was taken into custody.

Members of Hindu organisations were staging a protest at Basaveshwara Circle, following a rally through the major thoroughfares of Belur. The members also demanded that the executive officer of the temple and members of the temple development committee ban the Quran recitation by one Syed Sajjad Basha Khadri, before pulling of the chariot – a tradition followed by the temple committee for decades. The Hindu organisations also set April 3 as the deadline to decide on the matter.

Vidhulatha, the executing officer of the temple, said she has submitted a detailed report to the commissioner of Muzarai Department.

Five foreigners sent to Tumakuru centre

ENS @ Bengaluru

THE Foreigners Restriction Centre for Women at Dibbur Colony in Tumakuru district became operational on Monday with the Bengaluru city police sending five women, who have been overstaying in the city, to the centre. Two women from Bangladesh, one each from Tanzania, Iran and Uganda were sent to the centre, following orders from the Foreigners Regional Registration Office (FRRO).

Police said these women were detained at the detention centre at Sondekoppa near Nelamangala and were shifted to the new facility on Monday. "Henceforth, women found staying illegally in the state will be sent to the restriction centre. They will be there until arrangements are made for their deportation," the police said.

In August last, Home Minister Araga Jnanendra, Minister for Social Welfare Kota Shrinivas Poojari and senior officials held a meeting to discuss ways to strengthening and increasing the capacity of detention centres. As the number of women overstaying and staying illegally is on the rise, it was decided to have a dedicated centre for them. Accordingly, the Social Welfare Department set up the centre.

11th CE Tirthankara statue unearthed in Belagavi

AMIT S UPADHYE @ Hubballi

A 11th century statue of Jain Tirthankara Shri Parshwanath has been unearthed from a temple at Hukkeri taluk in Belagavi district. The statue was found when foundation work was in progress near a Jain temple in Hebbal village.

Devotees and historians have been flocking to the village to have a glimpse of the statue. Hebbal village has a Jain temple which was built in late 1800s where a statue of Adinath Tirthankara is located.

The village was a prominent Jain centre in the 10th century, say historians, who are demanding further excavation of the area. According to Bahubali Handur, a historian from Gadag, this is the second time a statue which dates back to 11th century has been found in the temple area in Hebbal. Earlier, another 11th century statue was found here which was shifted to a Jain centre at Kothali in Maharashtra.

"Hebbal village has been an important Jain centre from medieval times. The area under Chalukyan kings was ruled by Savadatti Rutt family between 850 AD and 1230 AD. The family had embraced Jainism and constructed temples in every village in the region. The rich tradition of Jainism can be seen even today in Belagavi district," Handur said. "The finding of Parshwanath statue proves that there could have been a temple here earlier. Maybe the temple was destroyed or had to be rebuilt due to which the statue got buried underground," he explained.

Villagers behold the statue of a Jain Tirthankara at Hebbal village of Hukkeri taluk in Belagavi district on Tuesday

"The present statue has a beautiful prabhavali (the ornamental ring around statues) and the length of the statue is 2.5 feet. The makers of the statue had vast knowledge about Parshswanatha purna which is evident from the way it has been made. Further excavation and documentation of statues is required in this area," Handur added.

REVISED 'MGNREGS' WAGES NEED REVISION TO BE A SURVIVAL LIFELINE

It is commendable that those at the bottom of the stack will now earn more. Farm labour under the Mahatma Gandhi National Rural Employment Guarantee Scheme (MGNREGS) has been given a wage hike of approximately 10.4% from April 1. Application by the states varies from ₹26 to ₹7 a day, with Haryana paying the highest at ₹357 and Madhya Pradesh and Chhattisgarh the lowest at ₹221 per day. Unfortunately, in as many as 18 states, even after the hike, the MGNREGS wages are lower than the old minimum agricultural wage scales. For instance, the notified minimum wage in Punjab is ₹361, while the new MGNREGA is 16% lower at ₹303 per day.

The government implemented the rural employment programme in 2005 to target rural distress by providing a minimum of 100 days of employment in a year. Despite all the corruption and leakages, it has served as a lifeline for rural households, and as many as 15.51 crore workers are registered under the scheme. When Covid-19 broke out in 2020, the scheme got a boost with the highest-ever budget of ₹1.11 lakh crore to provide survival wages to a record 11 crore workers. Despite this, in the 2022 winter session of Parliament, Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman claimed the numbers for MGNREGS jobs had declined. However, the recent Economic Survey showed that by the end of January, as many as 6.5 crore households had plugged into the scheme, much higher than pre-pandemic levels.

In many ways, this reflects the increasing rural distress and poverty following the pandemic. Over the last seven years, demand for jobs under the MGNREGS has more than doubled—from 1.64 crore households demanding work in May 2015 to 3.07 crore in 2022. Given these facts, the rural development ministry has unfortunately pegged MGNREGS scales below the minimum notified rates for agricultural workers. Perhaps the ministry thinks the scheme, being a 'distress' lifeline, does not need to measure up to statutory standards. Nothing can be further from the truth. MGNREGS provides short-duration jobs mainly during the worst seasons of heat and drought and therefore needs to provision for more than just survival wages. The government must also examine whether payment below statutory minimum wages passes legal muster. Given the projections of a scorching summer around the corner, taking a fresh look at the MGNREGS scales may be necessary.

SUMMER TENSIONS OVER SINKING HIRAKUD LEVELS

The drier the Mahanadi gets, the hotter the debate is. The onset of summer has fuelled great apprehension about the river system's flow and, eventually, its state of health, with large stretches running dry. What has sent the temperature soaring is the dipping water level of Hirakud, the only dam system on the Odisha side of the river, considered the state's lifeline. The latest weekly report of the Central Water Commission shows that Hirakud's live storage at 2.55 billion cubic metres is barely about 48% of the live capacity of the full reservoir level and below last decade's average of 52%. That Odisha could be headed for a harsh summer can be gauged from the present storage of all its ten reservoirs being 19% below the decadal average. Mahanadi runs a mighty 494 km through the state, accounting for 42% of the combined catchment areas of 11 river basins. Hirakud has a command area of over 1,53,000 hectares for irrigation and meets the water needs of major industries and urban and rural centres, besides a hydel-generating capacity of 307 megawatts. Anything and everything with Mahanadi is bound to impact Hirakud, with its echoes found across the socio-economic and political echelons of the state.

Much of the problem started after Chhattisgarh built a spate of structures in the last decade. Water flow to Odisha during non-monsoon seasons was depleted, surprising the government. This sent the two states on a path of confrontation. The Centre tried to resolve the issue but in vain. The BJD government filed a statutory complaint before the Supreme Court in 2016 and then sought an injunction on construction activities in the upper reaches of Mahanadi in the neighbouring state. Two years later, the Centre constituted the Mahanadi Water Disputes Tribunal which got its second extension after the expiry of its tenure on March 11 last.

In the last 25 sessions of the tribunal, the hearing could not begin since the common information format was not set. The tribunal is set to commence its field visits to the two states next month to expedite the proceedings. However, concerns for Odisha, the lower riparian state, will linger. Besides, history shows that inter-state river water tribunals in India have not succeeded in resolving disputes. Resolving the matter through a political route seems the best option, and the two states must explore it.

QUICK TAKE

SAFETY OF DAMS CRITICAL

India is undertaking the world's extensive dam rehabilitation programme. It will strengthen ageing dams to improve their safety and performance. Key steps include seepage control and improving spillways to increase reservoir storage capacity and creating disaster management plans. Of the 5,700 large dams in India, 227 are over a century old, and a thousand will be roughly 50 years old in 2025. Only good maintenance can sustain irrigated agriculture. Also, understanding the links between climate change and dam safety is crucial. Global warming causes unusual weather events, including frequent and severe flooding. This can particularly threaten dams with poor environmental performance.

It will take a few generations for China to establish the kind of linkages the US has established in the Middle East

CHINA'S FORAY INTO MIDDLE EAST VIA IRAN-SAUDI DEAL

Much has been analysed and written about the March 9 deal between Iran and Saudi Arabia, brokered by China. Most analyses focus on how China has swept the carpet from under the American feet and will now be viewed as a serious player in the Middle East where it has been trying to find a toehold.

The deal is an attempt to secure its long-term economic interests. It is also being viewed as a step towards wielding greater political influence in the region to rival the role that the United States has traditionally played. On the face of it, nothing could be more positive for the region and the world than an assured step towards curbing sectarianism within Islam. The Shia-Sunni rift gets translated into a geopolitical competition for influence due to the two most powerful Islamic nations in the Middle East, Iran (Shia) and Saudi Arabia (Sunni), being from two different ideological camps. Hence the deal has the potential to be a pathbreaker with the caveat that it is handled with kid gloves. Since it has the potential to go horribly wrong too, a brief explanation is necessary.

Another power adverse to US interests entering the Middle East was something coming for long and should not have taken the US by surprise. Ever since 1979, when the Iranian Revolution established the rule of the clergy by overthrowing Mohammad Reza Pahlavi and leading to the detention of 54 US embassy personnel as hostages by a segment of the new ruling elements, the US has been on what could be termed the 'Royal Sulk'.

The ignominy of a superpower being held hostage has never left the American psyche. There were opportunities galore where even a slight rapprochement with Iran and a light rap on the Saudi knuckle could have led to the arrest of the runaway growth of Sunni obscurantism as the ideological war within Islam intensified and the extremist elements attempted to establish their hold. American scholar Stephen Schwartz argues that internal dynamics of Saudi Arabia incited suicide bombers, Osama bin Laden, and other Islamic terrorists throughout the world.

In his famous book, The Two Faces of Islam, Schwartz focused on the role of the Saudi hierarchy and intelligence service in the spread of obscurantist Islamic ideology which effectively made the US and western society the targets of the radicals who set up 9/11. The US could have put a cap on this activity by following a more balanced approach to the Iran-Saudi relationship. The Iranian nuclear program, discovered in 2003, shook off any thought of a softer US approach towards Iran. The US thus virtually cut itself off from rapprochement and pursued 'containment' as its doctrine, with a hidden agenda of ultimate defeat and destruction of the Iranian regime. The beneficiaries were Saudi Arabia and the GCC nations, receiving the US largesse of military equipment and most importantly, strategic focus.

Two issues were of importance. First, the coming of the Saudi-Israel partnership set up by the US, for the prime purpose of containing Iran; the Iranian antipathy towards Israel is well known and harps on the completely unacceptable policy of 'holocaust denial'. The second issue earlier promised something more positive through the Joint Comprehensive Plan of Action (JCPOA) 2015 which could have brought Iran out of isolation and partially mainstreamed it. Donald Trump's refusal to follow his predecessor's sensible gamble of working cautiously led to the US withdrawal from the agreement and sent Iran back into its secretive isolation. It was already at war with the Saudis in Yemen through proxies. The proxy wars that Iran was sponsoring only intensified thereafter, leading to the targeting of the Aramco refinery in Saudi Arabia in 2019.

The US missed its opportunities because it refused to seek windows of opportunity to steady the Iranian nerves of uncertainty and perceptions of threats from its more powerful Arab neighbours. In fact, it added weight to Iran's fears through more sanctions and stronger backing to the Israeli-Saudi camp.

The Chinese initiative may give hopes of a positive outcome for the stability of the Middle East but there are enough detraction issues which could counter a positive movement. The Saudi-Iran agreement does not take into account Israel, whose enmity and antipathy towards Iran also borders on the extreme. Israel will not favour anything that upsets the balance which is clearly in its favour.

Sensing a lowering of US sentiment for itself, the Saudi leadership under Prince Mohammad bin Salman took the initiative to test the waters when President Xi Jinping came calling in December 2022. He intended to show his Arab counterparts China's value as the world's largest oil consumer and how it can contribute to the Middle East's growth, including within fields of energy, security and defence. China could have opted for cooperation in diverse fields with both Iran and Saudi Arabia individually without attempting a rapprochement between them. However, this could have been very temporary. The suspicion is on its larger understanding of the ideological issues of Islam and the potential they hold of acting as spoilers.

The US, with its deep-seated academic research of cultures, has been unable to fully appreciate the challenges and the opportunities that lay before it. China has created a mess of the Uyghur issue in Xinjiang and is extremely unpopular among the ideologically oriented extremist groups in Pakistan and Afghanistan. Will its entry into the complex quagmire of Gulf and Middle East politics be followed up by a steady and nuanced approach of understanding culture? To be an effective player as a big power, it's not just the money you bring to the region or the markets you seek but the depth of involvement in issues that matter.

It will take a few generations for China to establish the kind of linkages the US has established in the Middle East. For now, we should count our blessings if the Yemen war comes to an end and drones are not flown into each other's refineries. It may be highly premature to perceive a full turnaround in Iran's security perceptions and thus any effect on its nuclear program. Some things are a little too quasi-permanent in the Middle East (the sectarian divide for example) and will need much more to change than a short visit by Xi Jinping, a couple of discussion sessions, and an Iranian presidential visit to Beijing.

NEP: CHANGE IS WAY FORWARD FOR PUBLIC UNIVERSITIES

K JAYAKUMAR

Former Kerala chief secretary and ex-VC, Thunchath Ezhuthachan Malayalam University

The National Education Policy 2020 (NEP) has gained traction unusual for a government policy. The Centre has set into motion structural changes and innovations, particularly in higher education, with an unprecedented speed and determination to create an ecosystem for the vision of the policy to sprout. Of course, it could well be interpreted as a proof of efficiency and determination of a government that means business. Now that NEP is a fait accompli, there is an urgent need to recognise the tremors generated by its meteoric implementation and guard against the impending turbulence and eventual decline of public universities.

To appreciate the scale of the possible unsettling implications, it is necessary to understand NEP's vision on higher education. It envisions large, multidisciplinary universities and colleges, with at least one in every district. The emphasis is on interdisciplinary education, institutional autonomy, flexible and innovative curricula—all leading towards a 'global citizenship education'. What is contemplated is not a transformation of existing universities but the creation of a new landscape. Some definitions that the policy puts forth are crucial: "The main thrust of this policy ... is to end the fragmentation of higher education by transforming higher education institutions into large multidisciplinary universities, colleges and HEI (Higher Education Institution) clusters ... each of which will aim to have 3000 or more students." (10.1)

Moving towards such multidisciplinary universities and HEI clusters is claimed as 'the highest recommendation' of the policy. The policy distinguishes autonomous degree-granting colleges and HEIs, which are used interchangeably with 'university'. These ideas have to be read along with the vision statement that the system of affiliated colleges will be phased out over a period of 15 years. Existing universities will mentor affiliated institutions to attain the status of autonomous degree-granting colleges. Multidisciplinary universities (having no affiliating function) will concentrate on research.

What is attempted here is not a critique of the NEP, though it has undesirable ideological biases and practical blind spots. But in this high-speed implementation regime, the existing universities and affiliated colleges will have to take stock of their capabilities and culpabilities. Public universities in our country seem to have no strategy to navigate this defining season of deconstruction. With the NEP's axiomatic faith in autonomy, flexibility and interdisciplinary curricula, how much are our universities equipped to benefit from these articles of faith? Do they have the required flexibility in their decision-making systems to ensure academic alacrity?

The procedural overload, redundant administrative practices, and inherent mistrust of new courses and innovative course designs still plague our public universities. Resistance to interdisciplinary elements in curriculum, and the slow pace of curriculum changes and pedagogic innovations—are all uncomfortable truths that cannot be wished away. The decisive influence of organised unions to stall crucial academic and administrative reforms can be tamed only with considerable political will.

The decisive influence of organised unions to stall crucial academic and administrative reforms can be tamed only with political will

As long as the imminent need to adapt to changes and dismantle existing systems and structures of another era is not fully internalised, our universities will be caught unawares. Any reform in these universities often gets diluted to the level of the comfort zone of stakeholders. The existential need to bring in radical structural, procedural and attitudinal changes has not received the critical attention it deserves. In fact, lack of flexibility and adherence to meaningless and outdated practices continue to play havoc in these bureaucracy-dominated institutions. Status quo is often guarded zealously, asphyxiating vitality and creativity. The more we refuse to accept this ugly image in the mirror, sooner will appear the first cracks in the edifice.

Such cracks will appear not as any direct onslaught from the Central government but by the natural disinclination of students to public universities. A student, while taking academic decisions, will naturally weigh the available options. The NEP encourages private universities, foreign universities, HEIs, and facilitates the introduction of vibrant and relevant courses with options to transfer credits and several such innovative characteristics. With a rather loose regime for fees regulation, these institutions will have the freedom to charge heavily. Admittedly this will lead to social exclusion, with such education becoming more accessible to the well-to-do students.

Public universities, with moribund systems and lackadaisical decision-making style, would still be limping to adapt to changes—even while offering less relevant courses with outdated syllabi but with a fee structure affordable to the poor student. Such a shocking scenario not only creates social distances but leads to the emergence of the academic rich and academic poor.

With the implementation of the NEP proceeding in full form and speed, how can the slumber of public universities be condoned? As long as universities have no control on the new ecosystem created by the policy, the only option is to change or perish. But how does that change come about? Who will initiate the change? Chancellors, vice-chancellors, governments, university syndicates? The priorities of our universities are yet to be realigned to the realisation of the inherent challenges of NEP. The tug of war between governments and governors, tussles among unions, and proxy wars between political parties in university bodies—all provide a good enough smokescreen for the NEP to act. Alternative opportunities will be offered, foreign universities will arrive, and private universities will flourish as visualised in the policy.

By the time we end our quibbles and quarrels, the revival and survival prospects of public universities would have gone beyond the tipping point. That perversely fulfills NEP's implied vision: to sing the dirge of public universities. Liberalism may not be unsullied, good or bad in economics, but in education is admittedly lethal.

United opposition

The reason for opposition parties' sudden rage to support Congress and unite is glaringly clear. The enemy is common and unless there is a remarkable turnaround of events, Rahul will be a mere spectator in the next general elections. This is the time for him and his party to stop bickering and act fast for a remission of sentence. Drive against corruption led Oppn unity: PM

Takes potshots at Opposition, says some parties have alleged misuse of probe agencies but the country won't bend

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ New Delhi

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi on Tuesday took a jibe at Opposition parties, which united to protest against the disqualification of Congress leader Rahul Gandhi and 'misuse' of the central agencies. Terming their protest 'Bhrashtachari Bachao Abhiyan' (Protect Corrupt Movement), Modi said when (investigation) agencies act against people indulged in corruption; they are attacked.

"Today, all corrupts are coming on the same platform. The campaign, which the BJP has launched against corruption, has rattled the foundation of the corruption and corrupts... When the court gives a verdict, the court is questioned. Some parties together have launched a campaign –'Bhrashtachari Bachao Abhiyan' to save the corrupt. Whenever BJP comes to power, it causes a big blow to corruption," said the PM.

Sharpening his attack on the opposition, Modi further added that conspiracies are being hatched to end their credibility of our institutions.

"Our constitutional institutions are our foundation, and therefore our very foundation is being targeted and defamed to stop the development of India... for the first time in seven decades, such an action is being taken against the corrupt. When we will do so much, then some people will be upset and will be angry but the action against corruption won't be stopped because of their (Opposition) false allegations," he said. He was speaking at the inauguration of an extension of the BJP headquarters in the national capital. Taking on the Congress, Modi said that the Country can never forget that black phase in 1984.

"Congress got a historic mandate in those elections (1984), it was an emotionally charged atmosphere. We were completely destroyed in that wave, but we weren't demoralised and didn't blame others. Congress leaders used to say that they would wipe out Jana Sangh. Today Congress says that Modi 'teri kabar khudegi' (Modi, your grave would be dug). Several attempts were made to eliminate Jana Sangh and the BJP but they failed miserably," the PM said while taking a swipe at the grand old party. Recalling the BJP's journey in politics said that the journey of BJP had begun with two Lok Sabha seats, and is now at 303 seats.

"BJP is the only pan-India party from east to west and from north to south. BJP gives opportunity to the youth to progress," he said adding that the BJP works for strengthening democracy. The BJP has moved far ahead by virtue of its workers' dedication and the spirit of service to the people, he added.

"The BJP has covered a long distance of sheer sacrifice, dedication and services to the nation. Now, the BJP is recognised as World's the most important party. The BJP is dedicated to make a vibrant India, atambirbhar bharat (self reliant India). It works with a decided goal for the next 10-15 years," he said. He said that the BJP has got more than 50 per cent votes in many states just because of its services to society and nation for an empowered Bharat. On the electoral success of the party in northeastern states, Mod said that the entire northeast is the best example of the mantra of 'Sabka Saath, Sabka Vikas'.

"Population of northeast India is vibrant. People of the northeast have shown unprecedented faith in the BJP. Today, the BJP has four CMs in the northeast. And in the other two states we have a coalition government. The credit of this success goes to our workers. Because of their hard work, BJP's expansion is taking place in the south also," Modi said while praising BJP workers.

The PM said that the BJP governments are becoming synonymous with aspirations, development and progress. "The BJP government is now considered as a 'brand of governance," the PM said.

Modi asks party leaders to be ready for 'strong fight'

PM Narendra Modi has asked his party MPs to get ready to face string of challenges ahead as more success the party gets more the challenges will be emerging. Modi reportedly said, "The more, the BJP will continue getting electoral success and rise, the more the attacks from the other side (Opposition side) will be increasing their attack on us."

Congress capital march to 'save democracy' halted

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

CONGRESS on Tuesday escalated the protest against the disqualification of Rahul Gandhi from Parliament by trying to take out 'Save Democracy' march from Red Fort to Town Hall in the capital. The march of hundreds of party workers and leaders was, however, stopped by Delhi Police.

Several leaders, including former Uttarakhand Chief Minister Harish Rawat and Madhya Pradesh in charge J P Agarwal, were detained by the police, but they were later released.

The march was organised not only to protest against Rahul Gandhi's disqualification but also to demand a JPC probe into the Adani issue. Top leaders, including P Chidambaram, K C Venugopal, Adhir Ranjan Chowdhury, Jairam Ramesh, led the march which was scheduled to begin from Red Fort.

The official twitter handle of Congress said, "The dictator got scared of 'Satya' and 'Satyagraha'. A large number of police were deployed near the Red Fort to stop the peaceful 'torch march' of the Congress. Several Congress workers are being arrested from every corner of Delhi," it said.

Taking to twitter, Venugopal said that the Delhi Police is stopping leaders from taking out the 'Save Democracy', and did not allow them to reach the venue.

"However, this has not deterred us, and we have begun our march from the police barricades itself," said the MP in his tweet. The Congress workers also raised slogans such as "Modi Adani are brothers" and "We want JPC".

Congress workers also alleged that Delhi police heckled workers and took many into custody including Delhi Congress chief, Youth Congress chief and others ahead of the protest. In Parliament, Congress and other Opposition parties, including TMC, continued its attack on the government on Adani issue and Rahul's disqualification. Many leaders wore black for the second day in a row. Both the Houses were adjourned after protests from Opposition and Treasury benches.

Rahul says he will vacate official bungalow

Pakistan, China to attend SCO NSA meet virtually

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

NEW Delhi will host a in-person SCO National Security Advisors meet on Wednesday. Pakistan and China will be attending the meet virtually.

India's National Security Advisor Ajit Doval will host the meet. The post of NSA is vacant in Pakistan and therefore a senior defence personal is likely to attend the meet online. Border tension between neighbours is cited as a reason for their attending the event virtually. The next key SCO (Shanghai Cooperation Organisation) meet will be from April 27 to 29, which will be the defence ministers meet. This will also be hosted in Delhi.

There is no surety of whether Pakistan and China will attend this meet in person or virtually or even skip it.The most awaited SCO meet is the foreign ministers' meet that would be held in Goa on May 4-5 and the SCO Summit will be held in July – which is likely to see participation of head of states of SCO members.

The SCO, founded over 20 years ago, comprises eight member countries--Russia, India, China, Pakistan, Kazakhstan, Kyrgyzstan, Tajikistan, and Uzbekistan.

This grouping covers over 60 per cent of the Eurasian landmass, 40 per cent of the world population and 30 per cent of the global GDP. There are SCO dialogue partners which include Armenia, Azerbaijan, Cambodia, Nepal, Sri Lanka and Turkey. Saudi Arabia, Qatar and Egypt are also expected to become dialogue partners.

SC agrees to hear Gyanvapi case on April 21

SHRUTI KAKKAR @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Tuesday agreed to list the plea filed by Hindu side on April 21 on the Gyanvapi-Kashi Vishwanath dispute.

The matter was mentioned by Advocate Vishnu Shankar Jain before the bench of CJI DY Chandrachud. Jain told the court that Varanasi district judge had deferred its verdict on the consolidation of all suits in the matter for the fourth time.

On November 11 last year, a special bench of Chief Justice DY Chandrachud, Justices Surya Kant and PS Narasimha allowed the Hindu parties to approach the Varanasi District Court for consolidation of all suits concerning the Gyanvapi dispute. "Mr Vishnu Shankar Jain for the applicants seeks permission to withdraw the IA to enable the applicants to move the District Judge, Varanasi to consolidate the suits. IA is disposed of," court said in its order. It had also directed for continuation of its order for protection of an area where a "Shivling" was found in Gyanvapi premises till further orders. On May 17, 2022 a three judge bench had directed the District Magistrate to ensure that the place inside the mosque where "Shivling" is stated to have been found is protected. It had also ordered that this would, however, not restrict the right of Muslims to offer Namaz and religious observances.

On May 20, the bench, while extending its May 17 order for eight weeks, had transferred the case related to worship at Gyanvapi mosque from civil judge to the district judge, Varanasi.

It had asked the district judge to decide the maintainability of the civil suit in the Gyanvapi-Kashi Vishwanath on priority as sought by the Committee of Management Anjuman Intezamia Masjid (AIM) Varanasi.

₹1.30 lakh cr water plans of states under Atal Mission get approval

PARVEZ SULTAN @ New Delhi

UNDER Atal Mission for Rejuvenation and Urban Transformation (Amrut) 2.0, the ministry of housing and urban affairs has so far approved State Water Action Plans for 6,527 projects costing ₹1,29,636 crore. Replying to a question in the Rajya Sabha, state minister in the ministry of housing and urban affairs, Kaushal Kishore, said 148 lakh new tap connections and 33.42 lakh new sewer connections are planned to be provided through these projects.

The government aims to make selected 500 cities 'water secure' and provide functional water tap connections to all households under Amrut 2.0. Of the 6,527 projects approved so far by ministry, Detailed Project Reports (DPRs) have been approved by states or Union territories for 2,058 projects worth ₹36,481.47 crore, and notices inviting tender have been issued for 1,025 projects worth ₹19,157.55 crore.

The minister's reply further stated that works have been awarded for 608 projects worth ₹5,422.82 crore and 29 projects worth ₹102.99 crore have been completed.

"Further, 8,435 million litres per day (MLD) water treatment plant capacity and 2,795 MLD sewage treatment plant capacity are proposed to be added/augmented. Further, 2,102 water bodies rejuvenation projects worth ₹3,664 crore have also been approved under SWAPs & Special tranche of SWAP to give impetus to 'Amrit Sarovar' under Azadi ka Amrit Mahotsav," informed the minister.

The government is also promoting start-ups and entrepreneurs through Amrut 2.0. For this purpose, 'India Water Pitch-Pilot Scale Start-up challenge' was launched in March 2022, the minister said.

House panel for expansion of Nirbhaya Fund beyond crime

AMIT MUKEHRJEE @ New Delhi

THE department-related Parliamentary standing committee on education, women, children, youth and sports in its latest report presented in Parliament on Tuesday, recommended that the guidelines governing the use of the Nirbhaya Fund should be broadened to incentivise interventions in areas like policing, assisting victims and empowering women with skill sets and knowledge to make them employment ready.

In its 350th report, the committee headed by Rajya Sabha MP, Vivek Thakur, has observed that "apart from focus on urban crimes in public spaces", that scope of the Nirbhaya Fund, under Ministry of Women and Child Development, "should be expanded to accommodate support and empowerment schemes like community policing in rural areas with an equal emphasis on psychological assistance to women victims and assistance for setting up women coaching centers for police recruitment.

The 31-member committee, comprising MPs from across party lines, observed that the funds have been utilized for establishing one-stop centre, making safety devices, setting up fast-track courts and to procure forensic kits for sexual assault cases among others which help the security agency to curb the crime against women. The panel also notes that "emphasis on project features like optimum use of existing infrastructure and innovative use of technology have encouraged low-cost interventions oriented towards surveillance, reporting and investigation of crimes."

The committee has recommended that states should be encouraged to adopt innovative measures mentioned above in their women empowerment schemes for better outcome.

Over 49k waiting for organ replacement

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @ New Delhi

A total of 49,745 people are waiting for organ replacement, according to the figures given by National Organ and Tissue Transplant Organisation (NOTTO), Parliament was informed on Monday Minister of State for Health and Family Welfare Dr Bharti Pravin Pawar said in the Rajya Sabha a total of 15,561 organ transplants took place in the country in 2022, as per the data available with NOTTO. A total of 4,49,760 organ donors have registered in the country, the minister said.

The government is taking several steps to expedite the process of organ donation/replacement in the country. These include dissemination of information by NOTTO, Regional Organ and Tissue Transplant Organisations (ROTTOs) and State Organ and Tissue Transplant Organisations (SOTTOs), and the three tiered structure set up under the National Organ Transplant Program (NOTP).

The minister said a 24x7 call centre with a toll free helpline number (1800114770) to provide information has been set up, while tele-counselling services to help in coordination for organ donation has also been undertaken.

Listing the steps the government has taken, the minister said the government has decided to do away with the domicile requirement of the state for registration of patients requiring organ transplantation from deceased donors.

Also, as per the new government guidelines, the upper age limit of 65 years for eligibility for registration to receive deceased donor organs has been removed.

Now, a person of any age can register for receiving deceased donor organs. The minister said that few instances of human organ trade have come to the notice of the health ministry through complaints/media reports.

Under the Transplantation of Human Organs and Tissues Act (THOTA), 1994 there is a state level appropriate authority to investigate any complaint of breach of any of the provisions of this Act or any of the rules and take appropriate action.

Pawar steps in to douse MVA fire over Savarkar

After Uddhav's warning, NCP chief brokers peace between Cong, Sena

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

ONE of the high points of the meeting that NCP leader Sharad Pawar had on Monday in Delhi with opposition leaders was that Rahul Gandhi reportedly agreed not to escalate the Savarkar controversy any further, Shiv Sena leaders close to Uddhav Thackeray said.

Vinayak Damodar Savarkar from Maharashtra is a Hindutva icon projected as a staunch freedom fighter whom Congress and many historians interpret as someone who compromised with the colonial British, so they refuse to accord any halo of honour to the history's "controversial" figure.

However, during Bharat Jodo Yatra and on several other occasions, Congress and others have publicly denounced the saffron leaders over their Savarkar eulogy. Things came to a head when Uddhav publicly expressed his displeasure over the continued "insult" of Savarkar by Rahul. The Uddhav faction is allied to Congress and NCP in the form of Maha Vikas Aghadi which ruled before Uddhav was ousted from power after a split in the Sena and the MVA collapsed early last year.

Sources said Sharad Pawar spoke to Opposition leaders in his meeting with them on Monday and reportedly asked top Congress leaders not to raise the issue that "has no relevance in today's politics".

"The freedom fighters' era is different from today's political era. Therefore, the old era issues should not be unnecessarily stretched any longer to give the opportunity to BJP to target the MVA partner. Our focus should be on fighting against the BJP, not digging into old issues," NCP chief reportedly told Opposition leaders.

Sources said Rahul Gandhi with his own perspective of Savarkar presented his arguments. "However, Sena leaders and Pawar ultimately prevailed over Rahul in the larger interest of the Opposition unity," said a source. Uddhav camp's top leader Sanjay Raut also met Rahul. He described the meeting as positive, saying its results would be visible soon. Earlier on Tuesday, Congress leader Rajani Patil also met Congress leader Sonia Gandhi and conveyed the message of Uddhav Thackeray.

Senior leaders said that Congress chief Mallikarjun Kharge defended Rahul, saying that Savarkar issue was "limited" to Maharashtra.

MAHA CRISIS

'Plan to topple govt hatched by Fadnavis'

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

MAHARASHTRA cabinet minister Tanaji Sawant on Monday revealed that Maharashtra Deputy Chief Minister Devendra Fadnavis played a key role in toppling the Uddhav Thackeray government. Sawant further said that 150 meetings were held between current chief minister Eknath Shinde and Fadnavis to unseat the Thackeray-led MVA government.

BJP leaders and Fadnavis had earlier denied their role in pulling down the Thackeray government. They had maintained that Shinde's revolt against Uddhav Thackeray is the internal matter of Shiv Sena.

"Whatever I said that I have proven by my actions. After the 2019 state assembly elections, I was sidelined and not inducted as minister as well. That time only, I decided to topple this incumbent government. Then worked slowly to pursue and convince everyone. I was given the responsibility to pursue Marathwada, Western Maharashtra and Vidarbha region MLAs of Shiv Sena to come out from the government and form," Sawant said while speaking at a function in his home constituency.

Govt reaches out to Pradyot after he ups ante on interlocutor

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Guwahati

THE Centre is learnt to have reached out to TIPRA Motha after its chief Pradyot Bikram Manikya Debbarma threatened to launch a fast-unto-death stir over the delay in the appointment of an interlocutor to study and examine the demand for "constitutional solution" to the issues and problems of Tripura's 14 lakh tribals.

When contacted, Debbarma refused to share anything. He will brief the media on Wednesday. On March 23, he stated he had received a call from Union home minister Amit Shah who assured that "an interlocutor will be announced for our talks by the 27th of this month..." Debbarma had on Monday released an audio message for his party workers and supporters, announcing that he was ready to die to secure the rights of his Tiprasa people.

"My dear Tiprasa people, you have given me a lot of love and respect. If required, I will resort to a hunger strike from tomorrow. I cannot cheat you. I don't care about my health or illness," Debbarma said.

"Government of India has to listen to us and talk to us. I will wait till tomorrow. If nothing happens, your Bubagra (king) will resort to fast-unto-death (stir). I want to give this message. I love you a lot and there is a lot of pressure on me. I am ready to die and die for you but you should get something," the royal scion had further stated in the audio message.

On March 8, Shah had a meeting with Debbarma and TIPRA Motha leaders in Agartala. Soon after the meeting, Debbarma told the media, "We have been assured that an interlocutor will be appointed and the solution to our constitutional demand initiated within the next few days. We expect something positive within three months."

Politics over Sarus

Ironically, state bird Sarus is at the centre of politics, which is playing out in UP, with both the ruling BJP and oppposition SP squabbling after the forest department registered a case against the man who nursed the bird . The man in question had found the bird in an injured state a year ago and he brought it back to health, striking a chord with it in the process. The issue hit the headlines after SP chief Akhilesh Yadav visited Mohammad Arif, the man who rescued the bird in Amethi. The SP chief tweeted his picture with Arif and Sarus. This led to forest officials to take the bird away from Arif and book him under Wildlife Protection Act.

Balancing act

The UP unit of BJP has sought to strike a balance between various castes in its state executive committee, by naming 13 OBC leaders in a 45-member list of state office-bearers. The ruling party has appointed eight Scheduled Castes (SCs) leaders as well. Notably, the state unit of BJP is headed by Bhupendra Chaudhury, a Jat (OBC) leader from western UP. The new executive of the UP BJP includes nine Brahmins, seven Thakurs and seven leaders belonging to other upper castes, including Vaishya, Bhumihar and Khatri. The party has chosen to retain 32 leaders from the outgoing executive committee.

However, most of the other cricket stars ascended to Lucknow for IPL matches beginning April 1, shuttle between their hotels and stadium through buses. Pilot missing in protests against disqualification of Rahul raises eyebrows

RAJESH ASNANI @ Jaipur

RAJASTHAN CM Ashok Gehlot on Tuesday lashed out at the Modi government over the issue of Congress leader Rahul Gandhi's disqualification from the Lok Sabha. Speaking at a rally in Bikaner, he said that Rahul Gandhi had been punished for speaking the truth, and that democracy was alive in the country only because of the Congress.

Political analysts have noted that while the party is on the warpath on the issue in the state, former deputy CM Sachin Pilot is completely missing from action. Addressing a large gathering, CM Gehlot said that Motilal Nehru and Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru had spearheaded the movement that led to India's independence, while Indira Gandhi and Rajiv Gandhi had attained martyrdom for the country. "But the BJP has tarnished the image of the son of that family who took out the Bharat Jodo Yatra and gave the much-needed message of unity in the country," he said.

The ruling party's agenda for the ongoing agitation includes prominent leaders of the Congress party addressing the media on the topic 'Democracy Disqualified' on March 28 and 29. Press conferences will be held in Udaipur, Jodhpur and Kota while Gehlot himself will address the media in Ahmedabad.

Surprisingly, however, Sachin Pilot's name is missing from the list of leaders slated to attend these events. Political observers are speculating whether this is due to renewed factionalism in the state unit of the Congress. Rumors are afloat about Pilot being cross with the Congress high command for not taking any concrete decisions on issues flagged by him.

Reports are also being bandied about that this may be a pressure tactic on part of the Pilot camp to get him appointed as state Congress chief or as head of the campaign committee which will ensure he plays a critical role in ticket distribution.

CBI to probe attack on Union minister's car

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Kolkata

THE Calcutta High Court on Tuesday ordered a CBI probe into the attack on the convoy of Union Minister of State (Home) Nisith Pramanik at Dinhat, Cooch Behar, on February 25.

Tuesday's order came after the division bench went through a report submitted by the West Bengal police and the judges was not satisfied with the findings of the state police, said a lawyer.

The division bench comprising chief justice Prakash Srivastava and justice Rajarshi Bharadwaj ordered a CBI probe into the attack. The court transferred the case to the SBI for an impartial probe,'' said the lawyer.

Leader of Opposition Suvendu Adhikari had moved the high court seeking a CBI probe into the attack alleging the supporters of the ruling Trinamool Congress carried out the attack when Pramanik was on his way to attend a political programme at his hometown Dinhata. In his petition, Adhikari alleged the state police, instead of acting against the actual culprits, registered against BJP workers and arrested 20 of them.

Didi recalls 14-day Singur stir against 'forced' land acquisition by Left govt

PRANAB MONDAL @ Kolkata

West Bengal Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee during the foundation stone laying ceremony of two road projects in Singur on Tuesday | PTI

WEST Bengal CM Mamata Banerjee on Tuesday recalled how the people of Singur had extended all possible cooperation to her during her 14-day dharna on the national highway which led to the relocation of the Tata Motors' Nano car project.

She also alleged that a conspiracy was hatched against her, with a speeding truck being sent down the highway to a spot near the dharna venue where more than 100 people were sleeping. Banerjee, however, preferred to maintain silence on the issue of the Tata project's departure from Singur.

"I was on hunger strike for 26 days in Kolkata and staged a sit-in-demonstration for 14 days in Singur protesting the forcible acquisition of land by the then state government. During the dharna in Singur, people used to visit me with vegetables like potato and pointed gourd. They also offered me home-made snacks. One day, a speeding truck was sent to mow down 100 of supporters who were sleeping on the highway. It was a conspiracy to stop me,'' she said while addressing a rally in Singur from where she laid foundation stone of two road projects.

Mamata also slammed the then Left Front government in power in West Bengal, saying, "They accused me of price hike because tracks were stranded on the highway near Singur. Then why did prices keep rising after the dharna was withdrawn?" Mamata Banerjee-led Trinamool Congress came to power after dislodging the Left Front's 32-year regime in 2011 on the back of the anti-land acquisition movement in Singur, located in Hooghly district.

In an event in 2022, the Bengal CM had held the CPI(M), the main ally of the Left Front, responsible for driving out the Tata Motors project from Singur. Following the agitation, Ratan Tata had announced in October, 2008 that the project would be relocated to Gujarat from Singur. Armed with an apex court order, Mamata returned the land, acquired for the project, to the farmers of Singur. However, the area is still lying unused as cultivation is not possible because of concrete flooring of the factory which was on the cusp of starting production.

Elaborating on her government's contributions to the area, Mamata said an industrial park was set up in the area and the government helped the potato farmers by procuring the produce directly from them. She also said the state's initiative to preserve heritage structures which have both historical and religious significance.

Min: In a decade, India will become world's largest civil aviation market

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

UNION Civil Aviation Minister Jyotiraditya M Scindia on Tuesday emphasised that India is set to become the world's largest civil aviation market within a decade.

Speaking at the concluding day of the International Conference on Advanced and Short Haul Air Mobility for All (ASHA) in Bengaluru, Scindia said, "In the next four or five years, civil aviation is going to become the bulwark of transportation in india. Advanced air mobility must have its foundation on the basis of a strong civil aviation network, and India will become the largest market for aviation within the next decade."

Elaborating on the phenomenal growth of India's aviation sector, Scindia said, "We are today the world's third largest domestic market, with 144 million travellers. Combine domestic and international, we have the world's seventh largest market at 200 million travellers," he said. However, this marked a penetration of only 4-5% in a population of 1.3 billion, he said, adding, "There is unimaginable potential in India."

Aircraft shortage

The minister said occupancy level in flights has shot up to 90% to 95%, compared to 80% pre-Covid. "Earlier, we had aircraft but no passengers. Today, we have passengers but there is shortage of aircraft. We need more aircraft quickly because India has an insatiable desire to travel by air today."

"Pre-Covid, our high was 4,10,000 passengers per day. We are now coming off the high season which has broken the pre-Covid record in 2019, to attain a new high of 4,55,000 travellers per day, a 10 per cent increase over pre-Covid high season (October-November 2019) and sequentially every day."

74 extra airports

India had built 74 airports during its last 65 years of existence. "In the last nine years, we have built an additional 74 airports," Scindia said.

Drone industry to provide over 3 lakh jobs

To make India the world drone global hub by 2030, as envisioned by the PM, drone rules have been completely recast, Scindia said. "Earlier, we had to take 72 permissions to be able to set up a drone company and fly drones. That has been reduced to a paltry five permissions."

A Rs 120-crore Performance Linked Incentive Scheme has made the industry grow manifold within a year.

11.5 mn flew under UDAN

Under UDAN, 74 new airports, waterdromes and heliports; transportation of 11.5 million people, operations of 2,20,000 flights, 11 airlines and three new regional air transport companies were facilitated. Airports have come up in the remotest places. "It is astonishing that a country the size of India has a fleet of only 280 helicopters. Brazil and the US have around 4,000," he said.

Guj Congress stages protest against 'conman'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Ahmedabad

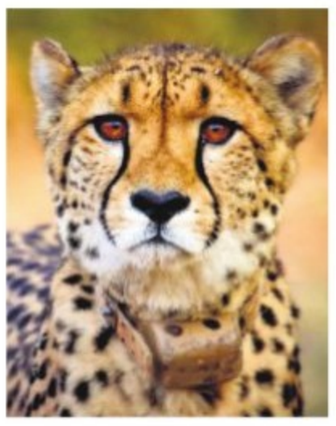
CONGRESS MLAs protested at the Gujarat Assembly entrance for the second day on Tuesday. Congress MLAs claimed that all Congress members have been suspended until the end of the session so that the "thug" Kiran Patel, who was arrested in Jammu & Kashmir for posing as an official of the Prime Minister's Office issue, is not discussed in the Assembly.

Amit Chavda of Congress claimed that Kiran Patel had hidden CMO and PMO blessings somewhere. Kiran Patel, a gangster, may have traveled to Kashmir from the BJP's "Kamalam" (BJP headquarters in Gujarat).

Leader of the Congress Legislative Party, Amit Chavda said "The BJP learned that we intended to bring up in the House the matter of Kiran Patel and his suspected connections to the BJP in Gujarat and at the Center. They have suspended us until the end of the session in order to avoid questions."

Death of Namibian cheetah at Kuno stokes blame game in poll-bound MP

ANURAAG SINGH @ Bhopal



THE death of Sasha, the five-year-old female Cheetah reportedly due to renal failure at Madhya Pradesh's Kuno National Park (KNP) on Monday, is turning into a political issue in the assembly. The state polls are due in central Indian state.

The big cat was brought to KNP six months after it along with seven other Namibian Cheetahs was released in the same park in the presence of PM Narendra Modi on his 72nd birthday.

The MP Congress's media wing head KK Mishra questioned why a Cheetah, whose renal health was possibly compromised since August 2022, was flown to India and released at the KNP by PM Modi on his 72nd birthday.

Tweeting the picture of the dead female animal, the Congress leader wrote, "This isn't just the carcass of a female Cheetah, but also the carcass of a shameless event of the BJP government. On what basis was a Cheetah, already afflicted with health issues, selected to be flown to India? After humans now a scam happening with animals too," Mishra tweeted.

Mishra also claimed that the same Cheetah had also undergone surgery, before being flown to India.

Further, Piyush Babele, the media advisor to MP Congress and state party president Kamal Nath, also raised the issue over Twitter. "This is the sad end of another story of the Modi era. Full-page advertisements were published to mark the return of Cheetahs to India after 70 years. For days later, the success story of Cheetahs' reintroduction dominated the media headlines. The PM himself released the Cheetahs and now one of those Cheetahs has died."

Meanwhile, the senior most MP forest department officer, the principal chief conservator of forest (PCCF) JS Chauhan said on Tuesday that Sasha's autopsy has established renal (kidney) failure as the cause of death. Veterinary specialists in MP, in consultation with Namibian and South African veterinary experts, did their best to save Sasha's life, but she couldn't be saved as the kidney was permanently damaged," Chauhan said.

Chauhan added that all the other 19 Cheetahs (seven surviving big cats, who were brought from Namibia on September 17, 2022 and 12 who were trans-located from South Africa on February 18, 2023) are totally healthy at the KNP.

Fire at Mexico detention centre kills 40

President says fearing deportation, the migrants set mattresses ablaze inside the facility in protest; 29 injured

MEXICO CITY

MIGRANTS fearing deportation set mattresses ablaze at an immigration detention centre in northern Mexico, starting a fire that left 40 dead, the president said on Tuesday following one of the deadliest incidents ever at an immigration lockup in the country.

Hours after the fire broke out late Monday, rows of bodies were laid out under shimmery silver sheets outside the facility in Ciudad Juarez, which is across from El Paso, Texas, and a major crossing point for migrants. Ambulances, firefighters and vans from the morgue swarmed the scene.

Twenty-nine people were injured and are in "delicate-serious" condition, according to the National Immigration Institute. There were 68 men from Central and South America held in the facility at the time of the fire, the agency said. A Guatemalan official said many may have been from that Central American country.

President Andrés Manuel López Obrador said the fire was started by migrants inside the facility in protest after learning they would be deported.

"They never imagined that this would cause this terrible misfortune," López Obrador said, adding that the director of country's immigration agency was on the scene.

The national immigration agency said on Tuesday that it "energetically rejects the actions that led to this tragedy" without any further explanation of what those actions might have been.

Tensions between authorities and migrants had apparently been running high in recent weeks in Ciudad Juarez, where shelters are full of people waiting for opportunities to cross into the US or who have requested asylum there and are waiting out the process.

More than 30 migrant shelters and other advocacy organisations published an open letter on March 9 that complained of a criminalisation of migrants and asylum seekers in the city. It accused authorities of abuse and using excessive force in rounding up migrants, complaining that municipal police were questioning people in the street about their immigration status without cause.

Mexico has emerged as the world's third most popular destination for migrants, after the US and Germany, but is still largely a transit country for those on the way to the US. It holds tens of thousands of migrants in an expansive network of detention centres and attempts to closely monitor movements across the country. AP

Wrong to assume sacked H-1B staffers have to leave US in 60 days: Official

WASHINGTON

AMID mass layoffs in the tech sector, the federal agency for immigration services has said it is wrong to assume that sacked workers holding the H-1B visas have to leave the country within 60 days, asserting they have multiple options to stay in the US.

In a letter to the Foundation for India and Indian Diaspora Studies (FIIDS), US Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS) Director Ur M Jaddou said, "When non-immigrant workers are laid off, they may not be aware of their options and may, in some instances, wrongly assume that they have no option but to leave the country within 60 days."

FIIDS, which has been working for laid-off H-1B visa holders, recently wrote to USCIS about the impacts of recent technology sector layoffs and sought an increase to the up to 60-day grace period.

In the letter addressed to FIIDS director for policy and analysis strategy Khanderao Kand, the USCIS said it acknowledges the financial and emotional impact that job loss can have on employment-based non-immigrant workers and their families in the US.

"We are aware of the issue of involuntary terminations, especially in the technology sector," Kand said.

As per The Washington Post, nearly 200,000 IT workers have been laid off since November last year. Industry insiders say that between 30%-40% of them are Indian IT professionals, a significant number of whom are on H-1B and L1 visas.

Fortunately, most individuals facing job loss already have several options to remain in the US, while continuing their job search past 60 days, the USCIS wrote. It said it recognises the contributions made to the US by talented foreign-born workers, including in the STEM (science, technology, engineering and mathematics) fields. PTI

United States reaches H-1B visa cap for 2024

The US has received the sufficient number of electronic registrations needed to reach the congressionally mandated 65,000 H-1B visa cap for 2024, as per country's federal agency for immigration services. USCIS said it has received enough electronic registrations during the initial period to reach the 2024 fiscal year H-1B numerical allocations.

Myanmar junta dissolves Suu Kyi's party

YANGON

MYANMAR'S junta-stacked election commission on Tuesday announced Aung San Suu Kyi's National League for Democracy (NLD) party would be dissolved for failing to re-register under a tough new military-drafted electoral law.

The military justified its February 2021 coup with unsubstantiated claims of widespread fraud in 2020 elections won by the NLD.

In January, it gave political parties two months to re-register under a strict new electoral law written by the military ahead of fresh polls it has promised to hold but which its opponents say will be neither free nor fair.

Out of 90 existing parties, only 50 had applied to re-register under the new rules, state broadcaster MRTV said. The rest would be dissolved from Wednesday.

Suu Kyi co-founded the NLD in 1988, and won a landslide victory in 1990 elections that were subsequently annulled by the then-junta.

The NLD carried the torch for democratic aspirations in military-ruled Myanmar and won crushing victories over military-backed parties in elections in 2015 and 2020.

Its leadership has been decimated in the junta's bloody crackdown on dissent, with one former lawmaker executed by the junta in the country's first use of capital punishment in decades. Some leaders in exile had previously called for the party not to re-register under the new rules announced by junta.

The military-backed Union Solidarity and Development Party had applied to re-register, as per a junta statement. AFP

UK hikes N Ireland threat level to severe

LONDON

THE UK government raised the terrorism threat level in Northern Ireland to "severe" on Tuesday, ahead of an expected visit by US President Joe Biden to mark the 25th anniversary of a landmark peace accord.

The domestic spy agency MI5 judged that the risk of an attack had gone from "substantial" to "severe," meaning an incident is judged "highly likely," Northern Ireland Secretary Chris Heaton-Harris said.

Northern Ireland saw three decades of sectarian conflict over British rule, known as "The Troubles," that claimed 3,500 lives. But the province stands transformed since the Good Friday Agreement was adopted on April 10, 1998.

"However, a small number of people remain determined to cause harm to our communities through acts of politically motivated violence," Heaton-Harris told parliament. He urged the public to "remain vigilant, but not be alarmed" at the announcement.

It follows a police officer being shot and seriously wounded in front of his son last month, while November saw a failed bomb attack on two officers.

Both attacks have been blamed on the dissident militant group the New IRA, which wants reunification with Ireland.

Simon Byrne, head of the Police Service of Northern Ireland, noted the threat level change "is part of an ongoing process of monitoring."

He vowed to "relentlessly pursue those who seek to cause harm and terrorise our communities, and attack my officers and staff."

Heaton-Harris drew no link to the planned trip by Biden, who intends to visit Ireland and Northern Ireland.

It is expected to coincide with the anniversary of the peace deal, which was brokered with US mediation.

The anniversary comes with the territory locked in political paralysis, as pro-UK unionists refuse to re-enter government in objection to a post-Brexit trade deal agreed by UK and EU.

Meanwhile, Britain Prime Minister Rishi Sunak said in a statement, "The anniversary of the Good Friday Agreement gives us a chance to reflect on the progress we've made, and the opportunities that lie ahead." Agencies

KRAKATOA VOLCANO ERUPTS

The offspring of Indonesia's infamous Krakatoa volcano erupted several times on Tuesday, sending a huge volcanic ash tower some 2,500 metres into the sky. Mount Anak Krakatoa erupted four times, officials said, with the biggest followed by another that sent a column of smoke and ash 1,500 metres above its crater. "This is part of an eruption phase associated with the formation of a new body for the volcano," Oktory Prambada, an official at the Centre of Volcanology and Geological Hazard Mitigation, said. There were no immediate reports of injuries or damage on Tuesday. The country has nearly 130 active volcanoes

Bid to curb Supreme Court Chief Justice's powers by Pak Parliament

ISLAMABAD

PAKISTAN Prime Minister Shehbaz Sharif on Tuesday said "history would not forgive us" if Parliament does not enact laws to curtail the powers of the chief justice, a day after two Supreme Court judges questioned the suo motu powers of the country's top judge.

Addressing the joint session of Parliament, Sharif talked at length about the dissenting judgment by justices Mansoor Ali Shah and Jamal Khan Mandokhail, who lashed out at the unlimited authority of the chief justice to take suo motu (on its own) action on any issue and constitute benches of choice to hear different cases.

Their judgment was about the case of suo motu notice taken by Chief Justice Umar Ata Bandial on February 22 about elections in Punjab and Khyber Pakhtunkhwa provinces.

It was openly challenged for the first time by the two judges who were part of a bench that, in its 3-2 majority decision of March 1, directed the Election Commission of Pakistan to consult President Arif Alvi for polls in Punjab and Governor Ghulam Ali for elections in Khyber Pakhtunkhwa.

The five-member bench was reconstituted by Bandial, who took suo motu action against the delay in elections and initially formed a nine-member bench to deal with the issue. However, two of the nine judges differed with the decision to take suo motu notice, while two other judges recused themselves, prompting the Chief Justice to form a new bench.

Justices Shah and Mandokhail, in their 28-page dissenting note, also rejected the 3-2 judgment in the suo motu case by saying that it was a 4-3 verdict to reject the maintainability of the case and lambasted the Chief Justice's power to form a bench for important cases. The Sharif government is supporting the poll panel's decision to delay the polls. PTI

LANDMARK LAW

CASTE DISCRIMINATION BAN COMES INTO EFFECT IN SEATTLE

WASHINGTON: A landmark law banning caste-based discrimination came into effect in the US city of Seattle, making it the first city outside India to enforce such a legislation. The resolution was moved last month by Kshama Sawant, an Indian-American politician, economist and an upper-caste Hindu. It was approved unanimously by the Seattle City Council by six to one vote. Seattle is not only the first American city to ban caste discrimination but is the first jurisdiction at any level globally outside South Asia to do so. "The world's first ban against caste discrimination outside South Asia goes into effect TODAY in our city of Seattle!" Sawant said on Monday. "Seattle's law now prohibits businesses from discriminating based on caste with respect to hiring, tenure, promotion, workplace conditions, or wages," Sawant said. It will ban discrimination based on caste in places of public accommodation, such as hotels, public transportation, public restrooms, or retail establishments, she said, adding that the law also prohibits housing discrimination based on caste in rental housing leases, property sales, and mortgage loans. Describing it as the biggest breakthrough for the global fight against caste oppression in many decades, Sawant said it has opened the floodgates for potentially winning such a ban on caste discrimination in other cities and states in the US as well.

Artillery supplied by America to Ukraine shot down: Russia

KYIV

RUSSIA announced on Tuesday it had for the first time downed a long-range rocket supplied to Ukraine by the US.

"Air defence (forces) downed...a GLSDB guided rocket," Russia's defence ministry said in a statement, referring to ground-launched small diameter bombs produced by Boeing and the Saab Group.

These devices have a range of up to 150 kilometres, which would threaten Russian positions and supply depots far behind the front lines.

Meanwhile, Ukraine's president visited the Sumy region in northern Ukraine on Tuesday, continuing his tour over recent days of areas of the country that have felt the brunt of Russia's full-scale invasion.

Also on Tuesday, Belarus said it was forced to host Russian nuclear weapons due to "unprecedented" Western pressure, insisting their deployment did not violate international agreements.

"Belarus is forced to respond to strengthen its own security and defence capability," the foreign ministry in Minsk said in a statement.

It said Minsk had been subjected to "unprecedented" political and economic pressure from the United States and its allies. Agencies

China has handed out $240 billion worth of bailout loans to 22 developing countries at risk of default over the past two decades, with the trend accelerating in recent years, a report said on Tuesday

China gave $240 billion in loans to BRI nations: Report

INFRA DEVELOPMENT

Almost all the funds went to Belt and Road Initiative (BRI) countries like Sri Lanka, Pakistan and Turkey—mostly low- and middle-income nations that have received Chinese loans for infrastructure development

GROWING BAILOUTS

In comparison to the IMF and the vast liquidity support extended by the US Federal Reserve, China's bailouts remain small but are growing quickly, as per AidData report

"Beijing has targeted a limited set of potential recipients, as almost all Chinese rescue loans have gone to low- and middle-income BRI countries with significant debts outstanding to Chinese banks," its authors wrote

EXTENDING LOANS

The 40-page report by the US-based research lab AidData, the World Bank and others showed bailout loans had accelerated between 2016 and 2021, with Beijing doling out 80% of its rescue lending in that period

BRI nations have come under strain as soaring inflation and interest rates, compounded by the lingering impact of the pandemic, have hurt their ability to repay debts

The bailouts allow the countries to extend their loans and remain solvent, the report said

MORE INTEREST RATE

The report warned that Chinese loans tend to be more opaque compared with other international lenders of last resort—and often come at an average interest rate of 5%, compared with a typical 2% rate on an IMF loan

CHINA HITS BACK

China's foreign ministry hit back at the criticism on Tuesday, accusing "some people" of "hyping up so-called Chinese 'debt traps' and opaque loans, and slinging mud at China, something that we absolutely do not accept"

"China has developed a system of 'Bailouts on the Belt and Road' that helps recipient countries to avoid default, and continue servicing their BRI debts, at least in the short run," the report said

EPF interest rate for FY23 fixed at 8.15%, up from 8.1% in FY22

Retirement fund body to distribute more than ₹90,000 crore in interest in members' account on principal amount of nearly ₹11 lakh crore

UMA KANNAN @ Bengaluru

RETIREMENT fund body Employees' Provident Fund Organisation (EPFO) on Tuesday hiked interest rate on employees' provident fund(EPF) to 8.15% for 2022-23 from 8.1% in the previous year.

The Central Board Trustees (CBT)'s recommendation involves distribution of more than ₹90,000 crore in the members' account on the total principal amount of about ₹11 lakh crore, which was ₹77,424.84 crore and ₹9.56 lakh crore, respectively in the FY 2021-22, the Ministry of Labour and Employment said.

The total income recommended for distribution is highest till date and last year's 8.1% was the lowest in four decades.

The growth in income and the principal amount is respectively more than 16% and 15% when compared to the previous fiscal, the statement said.

Experts said the move to hike the EPF rates will benefit EPF account holders, though incremental benefit will be limited as the hike is a meagre 0.05%.

"8.15% in tax-free returns without having to take any credit risk is good for most investors. This is still higher than PPF at 7.1% and FDs offering around 7% (but before taxes). For those who have small EPF contributions due to lower basic pay, should try to increase their contributions via VPF, at least up the ₹2.5 lakh overall EPF employee contribution limit where returns are still tax-free," Dev Ashish, founder, Stable Investor, told this newspaper.

Nilanjan Dey, Director, Wishlist Capital, said 8.15% will enable people to tide over inflationary pressures, at least temporarily. In February, RBI revised its inflation projection to 6.5% for 2022-23. Considering that, this is a relief of sorts.

"The only other reliable choice is now deposits. Now, we must see deposits as a somewhat better alternative to debt funds, because in the latter, the indexation benefit has been blunted already. Therefore, higher yielding deposits will hold the key to better returns," he added. As of January 2023, EPFO has added 14,85,948 subscribers, as per the ministry.

Lohit Bhatia, President-Workforce Management, Quess Corp, said that January also saw the lowest exit numbers, indicating a surge in job creation. "This is reflective of the sentiment shift of workers in India to move from the informal to the formal economy, which holds great potential for the country's economic growth," he said.

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

GOVERNMENT has allocated a total capacity of 39,600 MW of domestic Solar PV module (Tranche-II) manufacturing capacity to 11 firms, with an outlay of ₹14,007 crore under Production Linked Incentive Scheme.

As per the power ministry, the scheme will fetch the government an investment of ₹93,041 crore and generate nearly 1,01,487 jobs in the country. Reliance has been awarded capacity worth 6,000 MW, Waaree 6000 MW, ReNew 4,800 MW, JSW 1,000 MW while Tata Power Solar received 4,000 MW. The government said the manufacturing capacity of 7,400 MW is expected to become operational by October 2024, 16,800 MW capacity by April 2025 and balance 15,400 MW capacity by April 2026.

"India was well on its way to climb up the value chain in production of the high technology Solar PV Modules and this capacity addition is a major step towards making India Aatmanirbhar in the solar manufacturing sector," said power minister R K Singh. He further said the scheme has proved to be a watershed event in the country's renewable landscape, resulting in nearly 48 GW domestic module manufacturing capacity within the next 3 years. It has also reduced import. Integrated capacity of 8,737 MW was allocated under Tranche-I of the scheme in November-December 2022. Considering the two tranches together, the total domestic solar PV module making capacity allocated under the PLI scheme is 48,337 MW.

AI Express, AirAsia move to unified reservation system

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

IN a major step towards completing the merger process, Air India's two low-cost subsidiaries -- Air India Express and AirAsia India -- have moved to a single unified reservation system and adopted a common social media and customer support channel.

This system merger comes five months after AirAsia India was fully acquired and subsidiarised under Air India, and three months after both AirAsia India and Air India Express were placed under a single CEO. This migration, which largely involved Air India Express migrating to the systems used by AirAsia India, confers significant capability and efficiency benefits for the airline and passengers, said Air India in a statement on Tuesday.

In particular, passengers will now be able to make and manage bookings, and check-in to AirAsia India and Air India Express domestic and international flights, on an all-new integrated website airindiaexpress.com.

In the coming months, the airlines will continue integrating other internal systems and, eventually, their air operating permits and regulatory posts. It is expected that the full merger will get completed by the end of this year. After taking over Air India in January last year, the Tata Group is consolidating its aviation business Vistara, a joint venture airline between the Tatas and Singapore Airlines, is being merged with Air India and the budget carrier AirAsia India is being clubbed with Air India Express.

To achieve its aggressive expansion plans, Air India recently placed an order for 470 planes, with 250 from Airbus and 220 from Boeing. This was the world's largest ever single tranche aircraft order.

Campbell Wilson, CEO & MD, Air India said, "This new Air India Express, operating both domestically and internationally using systems optimised for low-cost airlines, gives the Group a much stronger LCC (low cost carrier) platform. Together with the Group's recent, benchmark-setting aircraft order, this sets the scene for us to realise many new opportunities for customers, employees and Indian aviation."

Adani stocks decline, CFO says share-backed loans paid in full

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

SHARES of Adani Group companies fell sharply on Tuesday and wiped out the combined market capitalization of its 10-listed companies by more than ₹50,000 crore after a report raised questions about whether the group has repaid debts worth $2.15 billion.

All the 10 group stocks closed in the red on Tuesday, with five out of the 10 group stocks hitting lower circuits.

A report by the Ken noted despite the Adani Group's claim of 'complete' repayment of $2.15 billion in share-backed debt, regulatory filings show banks have not released a significant portion of the promoters' shares held as collateral, indicating that the debt has not been fully paid off.

The Group's chief financial officer on Tuesday rejected the report. In a tweet, CFO Jugeshinder Singh said data will be updated on the exchanges after the end of the current quarter. He said the report could have simply seen the group's public disclosure on the payments "and would have easily verified that all margin loans of the promoters have been paid in full".

The Ken, however, claims under Indian laws, banks and listed firms must disclose to stock exchanges the release of shares upon repayment of debt. "But neither banks nor listed Adani companies have made disclosures to stock exchanges regarding the release of Adani companies' pledged shares," it noted. The exchanges have sought a clarification from Adani Enterprises, which remained unanswered by 9pm.

The Adani Group had earlier this month announced the completion of the full prepayment of margin-linked share-backed financing, ahead of the committed timeline of March 31.

The prepayment of loans, along with US-based GQG Partners ₹15,446 crore investment, had rescued the Group stocks from continuous freefall following the Hindenburg report. The cumulative market cap of the Group stocks has again come down below ₹9 lakh crore to ₹8.89 lakh crore. The market cap of the Group on the exchanges was about ₹19.20 lakh crore on January 24, the day when report was published.

Govt removes cap on commission paid to insurance agents

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

INSURANCE sector regulator Insurance Regulatory and Development Authority of India (Irdai) has removed individual ceiling of commission to be paid by insurers for the sale of their product.

The new rules, which aim to provide flexibility to the insurers to manage their expenses and are set to come into effect from April 1, will allow insurance companies to offer commission up to the expenses of management (EoM) limit. EoM is the sum total of management expenses (including salary, fixed expenses, commissions etc) incurred by insurers.

"The Insurers shall ensure that their expenses of management are within the allowable limit on the overall basis. Where the insurer has exceeded the allowable limits of expenses of management, the excess of such expenses shall be charged to the Profit and Loss Account," the regulator said in the notification.

The board of an insurance company should frame commission policy keeping in mind the interest of the policyholders and agents, said Irdai.

Currently, different segments of insurance business have different commission limits and commissions for the product are approved by the insurance regulator, depending on the policy. Insurance industry has welcomed the new rules and said it will fuel growth and innovation in the industry.

"The regulatory change is an eagerly awaited and path-breaking reform by IRDAI. The removal of the cap on commission payments will positively impact the insurance sector. It will facilitate greater product innovation, development of new product distribution models and lead to more customer-centric operations," Anil Kumar Aggarwal, MD and CEO at Shriram General insurance told TNIE. "It will also increase insurance penetration and provide flexibility to insurers in managing their expenses. Overall, it will smoothen adherence to compliance norms," he added.

Tech giant Alibaba to split business into 6 units

UMA KANNAN @ Bengaluru

CHINESE ecommerce giant Alibaba will split its $220 billion business into six different units, and each new unit could pursue an initial public offering (IPO). This announcement comes just a day after founder Jack Ma made his public appearance in China after a year.

This move is designed to unlock shareholder value and foster market competitiveness. The six units encompass Cloud Intelligence Group, Taobao Tmall Commerce Group, Local Services Group, Cainiao Smart Logistics, Global Digital Commerce Group and Digital Media and Entertainment Group.

A few weeks ago, Alibaba released a survey report that said four in five businesses in Asia are planning a full cloud migration by 2024, and that a larger share of businesses in Asia will focus on data analytics and AI, cloud computing and automation. Daniel Zhang will continue to serve as Chairman and CEO of Alibaba Group, which will follow a holding company management model, while each of the six business groups will be managed by its own CEO and board of directors.

"The market is the best litmus test, and each business group and company can pursue independent fundraising and IPOs when they are ready," said Zhang in an email to employees. The Hangzhou-headquartered group also expects the move to create greater ownership as each business group and other investments will have tailored incentive plans.

As far as India is concerned, the group slowly exited from India as recently it sold its remaining stake in Paytm. It was holding 3.4% in Paytm. In 2021, it sold its stake in BigBasket. Alipay Singapore, an arm of Alibaba Group, in November last year, sold 3.07% stake in online food delivery platform Zomato for ₹1,631 crore.

Also, this restructuring continues a long-running move towards a nimbler organisational structure.

Australia-based Sicona plans to set up next-gen battery tech plant in Chennai

C SHIVAKUMAR @ Wollongong

AFTER Tamil Nadu government unveiled the revised e-vehicle policy, Australia-based company Sicona, which develops next-generation battery materials technology, is planning to set up a plant in Chennai through a joint venture with Indian company.

Christian Jordaan, founder and chief executive officer, told visiting Indian journalists at Wollongong University, which is helping Australia in the energy transition that the company will be developing next-generation battery materials technology used in the anodes (negative electrodes) of lithium-ion ("Li-ion") batteries that enable electric-mobility and storage of renewable energy.

"This will significantly increase the energy density to bring down the cost upfront for electric vehicles," he says.

"We are commercialising an innovative silicon-composite battery anode technology, developed and perfected over the last 10 years at the Australian Institute for Innovative Materials (AIIM). Sicona's current generation silicon-composite anode technology delivers 50% to 100% higher capacity than conventional graphite anodes and its anode materials can deliver more than 50% higher cell energy density than current Lithium-ion batteries," said Jordaan.

Jordaan says after the domination by China in the manufacturing of batteries, things are changing geopolitically after Covid-19 as US and India are planning to localise the manufacturing of batteries.

India win Hero Tri-Nation Tournament

India played some inspiring football against higher-ranked Kyrgyz Republic to snatch a 2-0 victory and bag the Hero Tri-Nation International Tournament Trophy with an all-win record in Imphal on Tuesday. India had earlier defeated Myanmar 1-0 on March 22. Sandesh Jhingan and Sunil Chhetri scored a goal each for India.

England Test skipper can be groomed to be the finisher, the role which has been played by Dhoni so far for the four-time champions

Stokes a game changer: Balaji

ASHOK VENUGOPAL @ Chennai

MAHENDRA Singh Dhoni's Chennai Super Kings (CSK) are eyeing a record-equalling fifth title in the upcoming season of the Indian Premier League. In their bid to lift the trophy, the team had a fruitful three-week intense practice session with most of the players in attendance at Chepauk.

The four-time champions had a disastrous campaign in 2022 where they finished 9th on the points table. They witnessed a change of guard before the status quo returned. The Chennai-based franchise managed only four wins from 14 league matches last season.

The new-look CSK, however, are keen to perform better this season. They will meet Hardik Pandya's Gujarat Titans in the IPL 2023 opener at the Narendra Modi Stadium, Ahmedabad (Gujarat) on March 31.

"The CSK side looks good as it ticks all the boxes. The team is sure to perform well this season. At the preparatory camp, the players, in particular the new ones, would have been briefed about their role and the camp would have helped all the players bond," said former India player L Balaji, who till last season was the bowling coach of the CSK.

The huge crowds to witness the practice sessions at Chepauk is a clear indicator that the team's fan base is intact. Dhoni in the past has often said that the loyalty and passion of CSK fans, at times, have driven the team to give its best.

So what sets CSK apart from the other teams in the IPL. "CSK brand of cricket is totally different and unique from others. They play a fearless brand of cricket with a lot of passion and dedication. The team treats victory and defeat in the same manner, they never go overboard. Plus the bonding among the players is good and they are like one large family and that is why CSK is one of the most successful and loved teams in the IPL and world over," explained Balaji.

CSK's formula for success has always been two quality openers, one solid top-order batter, one finisher and two quality bowlers who could bowl well in the powerplay and at the death.

They had openers like Matthew Hayden, Brendon McCullum, Mike Hussey and Murali Vijay in the past. Suresh Raina, known as 'Mr IPL', was a solid top-order bat. Dhoni has played the role of finisher till date. While the likes of Balaji, R Ashwin, Ravindra Jadeja, Doug Bollinger, Dwayne Bravo were the bowlers who could bowl at the powerplay and at the death with equitable ease.

"You are right, CSK's formula has been to have two solid openers to exploit the field restrictions and then have a top-order batter to carry forward the momentum. Dhoni has been playing the role of a finisher with panache all these years. Quality bowlers at the powerplay and death have helped CSK win many a match. Bravo has been one bowler who did well in his role in the past," said Balaji.

So the big question is who will among the current lot and new recruits will fit in to fulfill the roles in the tried and tested formula of CSK.

"Ruturaj Gaikwad and Devon Convey can make a good opening pair. Ambati Rayudu can play the role of Raina. It is difficult to play the role of Dhoni. But Ben Stokes can be groomed to be the finisher that CSK will look forward to in the future. Stokes with his attacking brand of cricket could be the game changer that CSK is looking for. Deepak Chahar, Stokes himself, Moeen Ali, Mukesh Choudhary, Jadeja, Dwaine Pretorius, Mitchell Santner are the bowling options that CSK can exploit. As I said earlier, CSK ticks all the boxes and have quality players in their ranks," opined Balaji.

Coming to the first game, Gujarat Titans have been training hard and they do not want to take any chances against CSK.

Hardik, their skipper, was very active in the camp and gelled with all the players. He is keen to start the season on a positive note. "We have all prepared well. Our team is keen to start the season on a positive note. Our captain Hardik Pandya is leading by example. He is keen that we do well as a group and has been making it a point to talk to each and every player in order to get the best out of them. CSK is a top team, we are of aware it and would give our best shot," Sai Sudharsan, top order batter of Gujarat side.

TEAM WATCH

With the Indian Premier League round the corner, here's a look at three of the 10 teams ahead of the 16th edition...

CHENNAI SUPER KINGS

CAPTAIN MS Dhoni

COACH Stephen Fleming

2022 Ninth

STRENGTHS

Among all sides that try and maximise home advantage, Chennai is at the very top. The pitches offer the team to stack their lower order with spinners. In that context, a return to the MA Chidambaram Stadium is a massive welcome for the franchise who have further bolstered the middle-order by signing Ben Stokes. Even though he may not bowl, his much-improved spin hitting prowess augurs well.

DRAWBACKS

The batting unit at the top is left-hander heavy so they could be targeted by bowlers who take the ball away. Mukesh Choudhary's injury leaves them a bit short in terms of variety. They could also face the problem of balancing their squad in terms of the overseas quota in the match-day XI as only four of Ali, Stokes, Maheesh Theekshana, Dwaine Pretorius, Devon Conway and Mitchell Santner can play. Also, what shape is Deepak Chahar going to be in?

SPORTZPICS / TWITTER

Opportunities: If they play their cards right, it's a team that can bat right till No 10, Santner. With all sorts of batters in their reserve — hitters, accumulators, finishers — they could well use the Impact Player to try and get 11 batters whenever the situation calls for it. They did show last year they weren't afraid to keep going with the bat, irrespective of the situation.

GUJARAT TITANS

CAPTAIN: Hardik Pandya

COACH: Ashish Nehra

2022: Champions

STRENGTHS

An ultra solid spine with the correct mix of established Indian and overseas players. Shubman Gill has continued to evolve in this format and this could a big year. Hardik Pandya has become the international captain in 40-over cricket so he will have more experience. They haven't changed their squad all too much and only had cosmetic surgery so all of them know each other well.

DRAWBACKS

Lack of reliable reserves in the overseas department. To be fair, this didn't bother them all too much last season but there's always a chance it could come back to haunt at such stage in the campaign. The only other question marks revolve around whether Kane Williamson starts (he probably isn't in their strongest XI).

Opportunities: The addition of Ireland's Josh Little makes them an even better pace-bowling unit as he provides them with that left-arm variety. With Alzarri Joseph, Mohammed Shami and Hardik Pandya already in situ, it's a formidable line-up as, between the four of them (if they all play), 14-16 overs is a lock.

NOTE: They will be playing at home for the first time.

KOLKATA KNIGHT RIDERS

CAPTAIN Nitish Rana

COACH Chandrakant Pandit

2022: Seventh

STRENGTHS

It's all change including captain and coach. After a below-par last year, this is a chance for a clean slate. Granted the squad looks to be one of the weakest on paper but it's a side that still has the likes of Sunil Narine and Andre Russell, two players who have won games on their own. Throw in the likes of Lockie Ferguson and one of Tim Southee or Rahmanullah Gurbaz and it has the ability to surprise.

DRAWBACKS

Right now, there are more questions than answers starting from 'when will Shreyas Iyer be back? It's also fair to say that the franchise probably doesn't know it's starting XI. The middle-order is also a bit lightweight and unless the likes of Rana and Russell can rediscover their form, it could be curtains.

Opportunities: Playing Gurbaz or Litton Das as the specialist keeper up top allows them the chance to get off to fliers (they are two high-intent batters who focus on clearing the infield during the powerplay). They can also conceivably go very spin heavy if they opt to play Shakib Al-Hasan, Varun Chakravarthy and Narine.

Healthy competition behind boxers' rise: Bhatt

ANMOL GURUNG @ Chennai

NIKHAT Zareen, Nitu Ghanghas, Lovlina Borgohain and Saweety Boora were the toast of the nation after the IBA Women's World Championships and rightly so. In their own unique style of boxing, they beat some giants of the game to corner glory in New Delhi.

India women's team national chief coach Bhaskar Bhatt has been part of their journey for some time now, having worked with some of the pugilists, including Nitu, since their youth days. Expectedly, he's a delighted man and is intent on helping the boxers build on this period of success. Bhatt felt this fertile period in women's boxing is due to investment over the years. With youth boxers evolving and becoming more stronger at the senior level, the Indian team is in a better shape.

"Given that this championship was being conducted in India, I had tall hopes. Our boxers had been moving forward step-by-step for a few years now. Everyone, including the coaches and support staff, had joined hands and worked as a unit, helping the boxers push on. As many as six boxers from the 12-member team were also part of the youth team," Bhatt noted.

"All our No 1, No 2 and No 3-ranked boxers are strong and anyone can beat anyone on their day. So there's healthy competition within the team. That has helped the team in a massive manner. All the boxers now get a chance to go overseas and play some good bouts. That has increased their levels and become a stronger boxer," he added.

One of the notable names who has risen through the ranks is Nitu, a former two-time youth world champ. In fact, Nitu had won the first youth world title under Bhatt's guidance in 2017. Nitu was one of the standouts during the event, dominating her first three bouts before posting hard-fought wins in the semis and final. "Nitu is very quiet outside but when she's inside the ring, she's full of aggression. She can torment anyone with her style of boxing. She has been a different boxer ever since she became a national champ in 2021. We had been working on her long range and that is reflecting on her performance."

Bhaskar Bhatt with Nitu Ghanghas

Nikhat is another pugilist who looks invincible right now. She made a seamless transition from 52kg to 50. "Nikhat has had a massive hunger to win. She has been dominant and exceptional. We had worked on her medium range and she has been really good at it. She just doesn't let her rivals take charge and dictates the fight. She is mentally strong."

Lovlina, after some hiccups last year, also showed that she means business. Lovlina's strong outing, where she defeated some proven boxers, bodes well for India ahead of the Paris Olympics. "We had worked on Lovlina since the National Games in 2022. She had worked on her diet and nutrition and had started to build strength. It was a tough final for her and she still has plenty of room for improvement but she is in the right direction. Her dedication and willingness to work hard is something that has helped her reach so far," the 58-year-old noted.

The icing on the cake was Saweety's gold. Saweety has been part of Indian boxing for a long time but has always seemed to be in the background. Bhatt is impressed with the mental discipline she has cultivated over the years. "Saweety has been boxing for a such time and now she seems to understand what's needed from her. Experience over the years has made her a stronger fighter and she reads her opponents really well. She was pretty confident of winning the title this time."

Even though India won medals in just two Olympic weight categories (50kg and 75kg) during the championships, Bhatt is not a worried. Investing in young players comes with risk. But it also means now, after this experience, they could go on to find success later. Bhatt is hoping for just that.

French players celebrate the team's solitary goal against Ireland on Monday | AFP

Returning Pavard strikes as France edge Ireland

AFP @ Dublin

BENJAMIN Pavard marked his return to international duty by scoring the only goal of the game as France defeated the Republic of Ireland 1-0 in a Euro 2024 qualifier in Dublin on Monday. Victory meant the World Cup finalists had won both their opening Group B games following a convincing 4-0 defeat of the Netherlands on Friday.

France goalkeeper Mike Maignan, however, had to make two fine saves late on, including a superb stop from Nathan Collins' header, to deny Ireland a draw in the hosts' opening qualifier. Bayern Munich defender Pavard, making his first appearance for France since their opening group game of the World Cup in Qatar, struck five minutes into the second half after seizing on a loose pass across the face of his own goal by Ireland's Josh Cullen.

But third-ranked France were pushed hard by an Ireland side 45 places below them in the FIFA standings.

"It's never easy against a team like that who keep the pressure on," said France coach Didier Deschamps.

"Six points, well, the results are great. Congratulations to the group (France squad), but the road is still long." Deschamps, turning to Pavard, added: "He's on the way back up and it's him who won the game for us."

Ireland winger Chiedozie Ogbene hailed his side's performance by saying: "We should be very proud, we matched one of the best teams in the world and the future is bright." Seamus Coleman overcame a thigh injury to captain Ireland in one of six changes to the side that beat Latvia 3-2 in a friendly last Wednesday.

France dominated the first half but created few clear chances, with Collins preventing Giroud from capitalising on Randal Kolo Muani's clever back-heeled pass. Yet for all their superiority, France were indebted to an Ireland error when going ahead in the 50th minute. Cullen's over-ambitious pass was pounced on by Pavard, whose powerful shot past goalkeeper Gavin Bazunu went in off the underside of the crossbar.

But with Coleman leading a fine defensive effort that kept superstar France striker Kylian Mbappe quiet, the game remained in the balance. Ireland almost equalised wen substitute Kounde headed the ball towards his own net, only for Maignan to make a fine stop. Moments later, Maignan made a truly world-class save from a Collins header before France survived three minutes of added-on time.

RESULTS

Ireland 0-1 France; Hungary 3-0 Bulgaria; Moldova 0-0 Czech Republic; Sweden 5-0 Azerbaijan; Austria 2-1 Estonia; Poland 1-0 Albania.

'Ensure adequate utilisation of funds for athletes'

AGENCIES @ New Delhi

THE increased budgetary allocation for financial year 2023-24 should be utilised "adequately" and "judiciously" by the sports ministry for the training of athletes for the Asian Games this year and 2024 Olympics, the Parliamentary Standing Committee on Youth Affairs and Sports has said.

The government has enhanced the budgetary allocation to the sports ministry for 2023-24 by 22.08 percent as compared to the revised estimate allocation for the previous financial year, mainly because of the upcoming two mega multi-discipline events.

In its report, the committee observed that, "the major share of the total budgetary allocation in BE (budget estimates) 2023-24 of the Ministry of Youth Affairs and Sports is for the Department of Sports, i.e. 72.49%, whereas it is 27.51% for the Department of Youth Affairs.

"The committee, therefore, recommends that this increase in funds should be adequately and judiciously utilised by the department for the training of sportspersons participating in the Asian Games in Hangzhou in China, upcoming Paris Olympic Games and Para Olympics in 2024."

The panel also noted that with the budgetary components of Khelo India programme and Sports Authority of India (SAI) constituting significant amount of the total budget of the department of sports, it was important to have a separate 'demand head' for better administrative control and decision making. Khelo India has been allocated ₹1,000 crores and SAI ₹785.52 crore at the BE stage for the current financial year, totalling to ₹1785.52 crore. The two components amount to 72.50% of the total budgetary allocation of ₹2462.59 crore for the sports department.

The committee also recommended that the sports department should further strengthen its monitoring mechanism "so that gainful and optimum utilisation of funds is ensured." The panel also recommended prioritisation and utilisation of funds in flagship schemes such as Khelo India and Sports University in North East Region and also remove bottlenecks in the utilisation of funds.

Rocket that leaked coolant lands safely

SPACE

MOSCOW: A Russian space capsule safely returned to Earth without a crew on Tuesday, months after it suffered a coolant leak in orbit.

The Soyuz MS-22 leaked coolant in December while attached to the International Space Station. Russian space officials blamed the leak on a tiny meteoroid that punctured the craft's external radiator. They launched an empty replacement capsule last month to serve as a lifeboat for the crew.

The damaged capsule safely landed Tuesday under a striped parachute in the steppes of Kazakhstan, touching down as scheduled at 5:45 pm 147 kilometres southeast of Zhezkazgan under clear blue skies.

Space officials determined it would be too risky to bring NASA's Frank Rubio and Russia's Sergey Prokopyev and Dmitri Petelin back in the Soyuz in March as originally planned, as cabin temperatures would spike with no coolant.

NEW SOURCE OF WATER FOUND IN MOON SAMPLES FROM CHINA MISSION

Scientists have discovered a new and renewable source of water on the moon for future explorers in lunar samples from a Chinese mission

WATER INSIDE GLASS BEADS ON THE MOON

Water was embedded in tiny glass beads in the lunar dirt where meteorite impacts occur. These shiny, multicoloured glass beads were in samples returned from the moon by China in 2020

BEADS IN SEVERAL SIZES

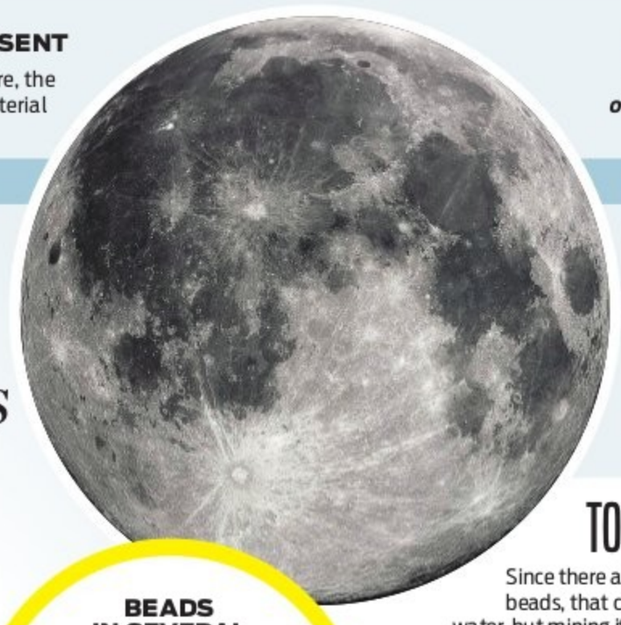
The beads range in size from the width of one hair to several hairs; the water content was just a miniscule fraction of that, said Hejiu Hui of Nanjing University, who took part in the study

HYDROGEN PLAYS AN IMPORTANT ROLE

These beads could continually yield water thanks to the constant bombardment of hydrogen in the solar wind

WATER BEADS OMNIPRESENT

These impact beads are everywhere, the result of the cooling of melted material ejected by incoming space rocks



RESERVOIR ON THE MOON

This shows "water can be recharged on the moon's surface ... a new water reservoir on the moon," Hui said

RESEARCHING ON 32 GLASS BEADS

The findings, published on Monday in the journal Nature Geoscience, are based on 32 glass beads randomly selected from lunar dirt returned from the Chang'e 5 moon mission.

More samples will be studied, Hui said

TOUGH TO MINE WATER BEADS

Since there are billions if not trillions of these impact beads, that could amount to substantial amounts of water, but mining it would be tough, according to the team

"Yes, it will require lots and lots of glass beads," Hui said in an email. "On the other hand, there are lots and lots of beads on the moon."

METHODS OF EXTRACTING ELIXIR OF LIFE

Water could be extracted by heating the beads, possibly by future robotic missions. More studies are needed to determine whether this would be feasible and, if so, whether the water would be safe to drink

RESEARCH FROM PREVIOUS MISSIONS

Previous studies found water in glass beads formed by lunar volcanic activity, based on samples returned by the Apollo moonwalkers more than a half-century ago

These, too, could provide water not only for use by future crews, but for rocket fuel

No atmosphere on exoplanet

SPACE

The Webb Space Telescope has found no evidence of an atmosphere at one of the seven rocky, Earth-sized planets orbiting another star. Scientists said Monday that doesn't bode well for the rest of the planets in this solar system, some of which are in the sweet spot for harbouring water and potentially life. "This is not necessarily a bust" for the other planets, Massachusetts Institute of Technology astrophysicist Sara Seager, who wasn't part of the study, said in an email. "But we will have to wait and see." The Trappist solar system—a rarity with seven planets about the size of our own—has enticed astronomers ever since they spotted it just 40 light-years away.

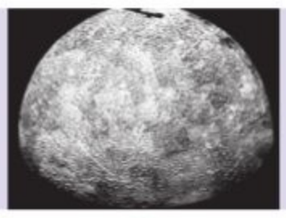
On this day in 1974, Mariner 10 became the first spacecraft to get close to Mercury. The mission helped to learn that Mercury is airless

TRAILBLAZER

The mission became the first to explore two planets (Mercury and Venus) during a single mission. It also used solar wind as a major means of spacecraft orientation during flight

ON DUTY

Shortly after its launch, Mariner 10 turned to take pictures of the Earth and Moon to calibrate its television cameras



RESULTS

The images of Mercury revealed a planet very much like our own. Its surface is a barren scape of basins, craters, scarps, ridges and plains

ILA ARUN, BEST KNOWN FOR HER SONG CHOLI KE PEECHE, IS BRINGING TO BENGALURU HER LATEST PLAYS, AHEAD OF WHICH SHE CHATS WITH CE ABOUT HER FIRST LOVE – MUSIC – AND HOW SHE INCORPORATES IT INTO THEATRE

TACKLING TABOOS

DESE GOWDA

AROUND 2012, popular folk singer and Bollywood actor Ila Arun was presented with an unexpected opportunity – to direct a play of her choice for the International Film Festival in Delhi. Although initially hesitant, Arun was convinced about taking up the director's mantle following enthusiastic support from her close associates. The creative freedom it offered, to tell the kind of stories that she wanted – ones which gave voice to the voiceless, was also an influential factor in her decision, with her experience in theatre also boosting her confidence. The result was an adaptation of Henrik Ibsen's Norwegian play Lady from the Sea, localised and made richer with music.

"Going through Ibsen's work while deciding which play I should adapt, I realised that a lot of his writings from over 150 years ago are still relevant today. There were a lot of parallels between the protagonist of the Lady from the Sea and that of Indian women, especially the illiterate women of Rajasthan from that period," she shares. "I used a lot of music, which shocked a few people who couldn't believe that I had managed to fit so much music into the narrative."

More than a decade later, Arun has written four original plays and adapted numerous other plays from various parts of the world. Early next month, two of her plays, Baby Blues and Peechha Karti Parchhaiyan, adaptations of an American play of the same name by playwright Tammy Ryan and Henrik Ibsen's classic Ghosts, respectively, are coming to Ranga Shankara.

Both plays explore vastly different themes, but are similar in the way they tackle societal taboos and social issues. Baby Blues explores a new mother's descent into postpartum depression, and her relationship with her sensitive husband, while highlighting the challenges of being a first-time mother in the modern world. When she first read the play, Arun says she felt ashamed of her own ignorance of an issue that affects a significant portion of women experiencing motherhood. "As a mother of a child, I didn't know what postpartum depression was. When I came to know about it, I was horrified. Young mothers going through the issue are often dismissed as having mood swings due to hormonal imbalances. But it's much more serious than that," she says.

Although an adaptation, Arun shares that little-to-no changes were made to the original script. "It covers all aspects of human relationships, and has lighter moments that make the play richer," she adds.

Meanwhile, Peechha Karti Parchhaiyan (PKP) is a more localised adaptation of Henrik Ibsen's classic Ghosts. The original explored themes such as religion, infidelity, sexual abuse and much more that were taboo for the time when it was first staged in the 1880s. With PKP, Arun explores the various taboos and religious rituals in an Indian setting, telling the bleak story of an erstwhile royal family that is still living on their past glory, desperately clutching onto old traditions and decrepit lifestyles.

A musician at heart, Arun's latest plays are filled to the brim with music, woven naturally into each narrative. "While developing the scripts, I realised that a lot of music could be added to further the story, whether as a background score or as part of the story. Music is a strength of mine, so I know what kind of music is suitable for the plays I write," she shares.

(Peechha Karti Parchhaiyan and Baby Blues will be staged at Rangashankara on April 7 and 8, respectively. Details on bookmyshow.com)

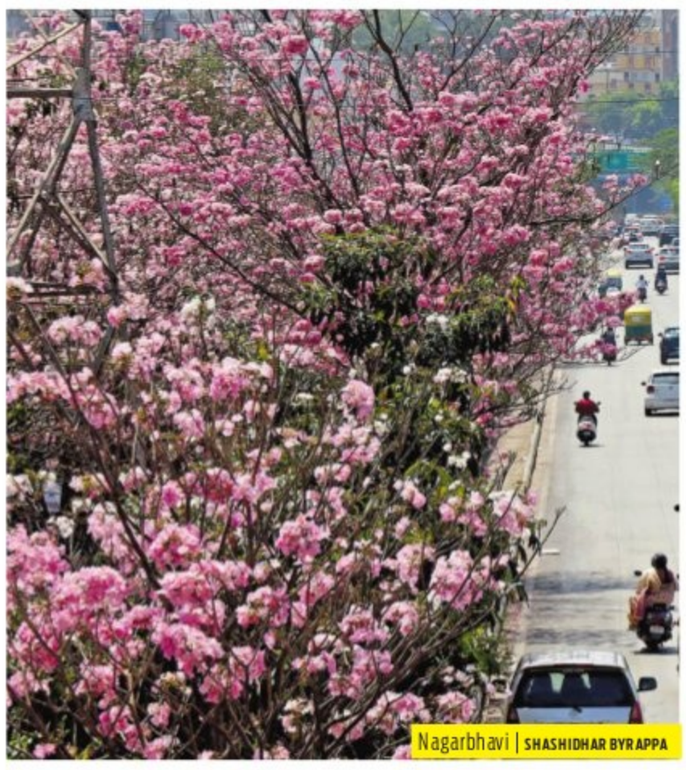
PRETTY IN PINK

Stories on social media are flooded with photographs of pink Bengaluru, with the blossoming tabebuia rosea. Here are some facts about the origins of the flower



Nagarbhavi | SHASHIDHAR BYRAPPA

Kengeri | SHASHIDHAR BYRAPPA

Whitefield | BIPLAB MOHAPATRA

Bellandur | RISHIM

- Easy to misinterpret these flowers as Sakura or Cherry Blossoms found in Japan, the pink flowers that have taken over the city are called tabebuia rosea, or pink poui.
- These trees originally come from southern Mexico, Venezuela and Ecuador.
- These trees usually flower during dry weather between January and April.
- They grow in temperatures ranging from 20 ºC to 30 ºC on average.
- Not native to Karnataka's capital city, the tree was introduced by the British during their rule.
- Botanists such as John Cameron and Gustav Hermann Krumbiegel planted the first few seeds of these trees in the then Kingdom of Mysore, during their precedence over Lal Bagh.
- One of Bengaluru's most celebrated horticulturists, SG Neginhal subsequently planted them across the city in the 1980s.

KNOW YOUR CITY

Arun Prasad, city-based history researcher, unravels interesting facts about Bengaluru in this weekly quiz series. So it's time for you to find out how familiar you are with the city, beyond its heritage buildings, IT parks and the pub culture.

THE QUIZ WILL BE PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY

Send answers to bengalurucityexpress@gmail.com with the subject line 'Know Your City Quiz'

Correct answers and names of first three respondents with right answers will be featured in CE.

1. Kempegowda I founded Bengaluru with the imperial permission of Vijayanagara Emperor Achyutharaya by raising a mud fort in the vicinity of the present city market area in the year 1537. The fort he erected had eight prominent gates and the streets within were earmarked based on the trading activity namely Doddapete, Chikkapete, Akkipete, Balepete, Upparpete, Aralipete etc. Which small province, today a prominent residential suburb in the north of Bengaluru, was Kempegowda the chieftain and feudatory while founding Bengaluru? Yelahanka or Begur?

2. Tipu Sultan was barely 13 when he accompanied his father Hyder Ali on his Malabar mission in 1763 from which he emerged to be known as the 'Tiger of Mysore', the most powerful ruler of southern India. During his reign, Tipu enhanced the trade activities in Bengaluru, promoted silk trade, set up sericulture hubs, and invited weavers and designers from different parts of the country. Tipu actively developed Lalbagh and completed the works of a grand Palace in 1791. Tipu also strengthened the military aspects of the city, manufactured rockets and built armoury. Which burgeoning locality today on the northern outskirts of Bengaluru was Tipu Sultan born?

3. Wodeyars ruled the erstwhile Kingdom of Mysore from 1399 to 1947, perhaps the only royal family in India that has ruled over a Kingdom for more than 5 centuries. The dynasty too had immensely contributed to the growth and development of Bengaluru. Be it the strengthening of the fort, introducing a systematic administration known as 'Attara Kacheri', postal system known as 'Anche', literary pursuits and cultural contribution has elevated the status of Mysore as one of the outstanding Kingdoms in India. Name the palatial heritage bungalow in the city today owned by the Wodeyar family.

RIGHT MOVES

SAKSHI JHAWAR

WE need to be supple like a cat," says Amy Taylor Alpers, a second-generation Pilates teacher and co-founder of The Pilates Centre in Colorado, who was recently in Bengaluru to share her expertise on the fitness technique. Relatively new in India, Pilates – for the uninitiated– is a type of exercise that emphasises the development of strength, flexibility, and endurance through a series of controlled movements. Alpers places a strong emphasis on the value of correct alignment and conscious movement. "Instead of the artificial discipline that results from 21st century living like sitting on chairs and working on computers and always being on our own, Pilates restores you to sort of being a primal human. It's total body fitness with the goal of uniformly developing you," says Alpers. In addition to an introductory workshop, she also taught and conducted workshops and lessons at Pilates for Wellbeing on Lavelle Road. The event coincided with the launch of India's first Classical Pilates Teacher Training Academy by Kavita Prakash, the only licensed teacher trainer for the Pilates Centre in Asia.

With over 35 years of experience, Alpers got into the teaching of Pilates quite by chance. A dancer who studied at The Julliard School, she then performed in New Jersey with The Garden State Ballet and graduated from New York University with a BA in dance and an MFA in dance history. She was severely injured while dancing which made her rethink her course. She turned to Pilates to help her heal after getting hurt, and discovered that it also gave her a new love. "My sister and I received our Pilates instruction directly from Romana Kryzanowska, who served as Joseph Pilates' main protégé and continued his work as authentically as possible following the latter's death in 1967," says Alpers, who then established her own Pilates centre in Boulder, Colorado, USA along with her sister. "I couldn't have imagined that as a Pilates instructor, I would travel to so many countries," she says.

According to a recent fitness report, Pilates has seen a 38 per cent increase in popularity as people look to incorporate it into their fitness routines. Often compared to yoga, we ask her the difference between the two. "It's actually much more of a western fitness technique that uses equipment, but it shares yoga's profound body awareness and mental attention, and some of Pilates' movements are extremely comparable. Pilates is great for reducing stress, improving full body health, developing stronger muscles, toning, and making one more flexible," she says.

GRAPEVINES OF THE PAST

TUNIR BISWAS

KIRTANA Kumar has written Bangalore Blues for everyone. For the old and the new. For the aged and the young. For the curious and the nostalgic. For the long-time Bengalureans and the many fresh faces to the city. "The fourth story, 'Dear Stranger', addresses this. It invites someone who may not know the Bangalore of the past 'to come in and have a dose'. It offers the possibility of getting to know a city. While it allows old-timers the joy of familiarity and recognition, it equally offers a 'stranger' to the city the chance to get beneath the skin of a certain Bangalorean sensibility and ethos, through an understanding of the geography, the landmarks and the pace of the city," says Kumar about her debut book.

The book features 33 vignettes of the city. The number 33 has no special significance to it other than it 'resonates' with the author. Maybe what 42 is to Douglas Adams, 33 is to Kumar. While the book offers enough to a newcomer in the city, Kumar had to look heavily through the past during the research process to capture the city's essence and she 'had a blast doing it'. "Being a research junkie, I loved doing a deep dive into the pop culture of the past decades. What music was played in public spaces in Bangalore in the '70s? What movies did we watch? What is the architectural form of Mayo Hall? Who were the early Indologists? When did the Bianca toothpaste toys come into vogue? And also, reading documents such as the Mysore Gazetteer and having conversations with old-timers. The stories took a relatively short time to write. I must add that I had a fantastic and caring editor who was as pedantic as I was! Plus, we both lived through the '60s and '70s, so we really got into the nitty-gritty of it," she shares.

For Kumar, the only real challenge in writing the book was time. "Finding the time between my other work to edit, fine-tune, design and publish this book. The evocative black and white photograph of a prominent media house on the cover is by Ranjit Chettur of Jumpcut Pictures. Ranjit would often call and ask when the book would be out and I'd always have to say another week..another fortnight," she explains.

The motivations behind the book are multifold and so are the origins of its title. "Perhaps the motivation was the snow, perhaps it was the pandemic. In 2021, I found myself alone, in an atelier in Villa Waldberta on the banks of Lake Starnberg, for two months. I was reflecting a lot on my father and what a funny guy he was, a Cantonment guy, tenderly connected to all that was charming and maverick about Bangalore. The stories poured out of these reflections. The title is a play on words. Bangalore Blues are our local variety of fox grape - vitis labrusca. Blues are the genre much loved by my generation of music-mad Bangaloreans. Blue was also the colour of the jeans we wore," she says.

Kumar feels due to the seemingly perennial evolving nature of Bengaluru, traces of the old Bangalore can hardly be seen now, except maybe in some people. "Look, cities evolve, people come and go, so long as Bangalore offers the possibility of livelihood to people, gentrification is an inevitable reality. Yes, the Bengaluru we see today doesn't much resemble the Bangalore of yore, but that is the nature of the beast. I do see the old Bangalore, but in certain people, communities and subcultures, rather than in bungalows or monkey-tops. It has to do with living in proximity to and taking great pleasure in, diverse ways of life," she says.

Primarily an artiste of the stage, a thespian and a playwright, penning a book was an 'offering of her universe'. "I'm a theatre artiste and writing this book has been a joyous extension of performing or directing a play, teaching young people or writing for the stage. An offering of my universe, whether through words, movement, visuals or text, and then, my curiosity about whether people wish to walk in," concludes Kumar, who will soon be taking eight Theatre Lab (Youth) students to Germany on March 31 to perform a play based on Reduced Inequalities at Schauburg Theatre, Munich. There are also more upcoming Bangalore Blues events, including a large one at the Bangalore Club on May 27.

Dear engineers, these products require urgent innovation

(Writer, comedian)

I did not study Science. It wasn't just due to a lack of marks; I was never really interested. Physics seemed like the domain of psychics and Chemistry was a mystery to me. So, I chose instead to study Commerce for five years and remember nothing of it. However, if you're an engineer reading this column – here's an urgent appeal. In the world of science, products are on a constant path of innovation. It's what makes us human – this need for constant betterment and efficiency. However, with decades of industrial and technological revolutions, a few products have been left behind. As a Commerce (and then Arts) student, these products require urgent innovation.

Firstly, we have showers. Every bathroom in India has a different permutation-combination for turning on the hot water. Knobs, levers, and pulleys that resemble a time machine. We have all been drenched like Tom and scampered like Jerry while trying to check if the water is hot. We have all become part time DJs - twisting and turning the knobs cluelessly.

Next up - combs. I know combs are not going to change the world in any way. But since my childhood, I have only seen the two kinds - combs with thin teeth and combs with large teeth. Anybody with hair will confirm that both the kinds are completely useless. Combed hair rarely stays in place, and I have spent a lifetime combing markets for a decent one. I hope some of you change the state of combs in the world.

Which brings me to mosquito repellents. Since my birth, I have seen humanity bravely throw up options to curb mosquitoes. From the mosquito coils that would make you coil and throw up in disgust. To mosquito 'mats', that mosquitoes found comfortable to fly in and sleep on. To mosquito repellent creams that repelled humans as a side-effect. To mosquito liquids, whose red lights act like target points for mosquitoes to come and attack humans. This innovation might even win you a Nobel prize.

As we come closer to home, here is my final request – tongue cleaners. Toothbrushes are constantly innovating. Modern toothbrushes come with batteries, Wi-Fi, Bluetooth and mother's blessings. The bristles are micro perforated to reach every nook and corner of your teeth, making you wonder if Elon Musk is secretly working on your toothbrush! But tongue cleaners have been rotting at the bottom of the innovation barrel.

In the name of tongue cleaners, we are given those metal strips that were made from Aurangzeb's sword. People are usually in a good mood while brushing their teeth, humming 'Paas aao...' (Come here). But have you heard the sound they make when they clean their tongue? It's the sound of a million taste buds dying every morning. I have used the metal tongue cleaner for so long, I have lost all sensation of taste. I can't tell a Mysore bonda from an aloo bonda. I'm constantly petrified of the toothpaste lady turning up at my door and asking if my toothpaste has salt in it. And me having to tearfully admit that I cannot taste anything at all.

Do something about tongue cleaners, dear engineers. You will win no awards, no recognition for this innovation. But I promise, I will be indebted to you for life. I will name my ~~children~~ pets after you. I'll write books in your honour, and sing songs in your glory. And if my editor (a very kind person, I must add!) allows me, I will also write a column dedicated to you!

Yours sincerely,

A Commerce and Arts student.

'There is a peculiar pull to write on Kashmir'

AUTHOR Sandeep Bamzai says when it comes to writing on Kashmir, there is an emotional quotient involved. That is not just due to the fact that he was born there but also that the Pandit community, which has contributed immensely in diverse spheres, was forced to leave the Valley and become a migrant in its own country. Bamzai's latest book, Gilded Cage: Years that Made and Unmade Kashmir chronicles the time from the emergence of Sheikh Abdullah in Kashmir's politics up to his arrest to the disillusionment of the Kashmiri masses from their leadership. From Jinnah's obsession with Kashmir to Sheikh Abdullah's hatred for Jinnah, from Jawaharlal Nehru's comprehension of the Valley being a shop window for his brand of secular politics to Maharaja Hari Singh's streak of remaining independent in the face of both India and Pakistan, this book covers the vital years that defined Kashmir's accession to India.

The author, whose latest is the third part of the trilogy after Bonfire of Kashmiriyat and Princestan: How Nehru, Patel and Mountbatten Made India, feels a certain compulsion to write the Valley's real story as superficiality seems to have become the norm. -IANS

GHOST TO BE RELEASED IN TWO PARTS

A SHARADHAA

GHOST is currently in the last leg of shooting, and Srini is shooting with the top actors of Indian cinema like Shivarajkumar, Jayaram, and Anupam Kher for the heist thriller, in Bengaluru. Meanwhile, the multilingual film is the newest entrant to follow the trend of multi-part releases, and in all likelihood, Ghost will be released as a duology. A confirmation was made by producer Sandesh Nagaraj in his interaction with CE, "Director Srini is already working on the sequel and works are underway to make sure that the massive star cast comes together on a bigger scale."

Director Srini shares that the film has the potential to be made into a franchise. "I am planning to conceive it as a multiverse project and connect it with my other film Birbal. Right now my focus is on completing the first part of Ghost. Once I am done with this, I will complete the script of the sequel. The heist, which features Shivarajkumar in a never-before-seen role, will also have a digitally de-aged sequence of him.

Ghost also stars Prashanth Narayan in a pivotal character, there has also been speculation of the makers approaching Vijay Sethupathi to be part of the lead cast. "Yes, we are keen on bringing in Vijay Sethupathi for a significant role, and there have been discussions going on for some time now, but it is early to make an official confirmation," says Srini.

Shivarajkumar doesn't have a pair in Ghost, however, the film has Archana Jois playing a key role as a journalist. The film's music is by Arjun Janya and the cinematography is by Mahendra Simha.

In a conversation, Gaslight's Vikrant Massey talks about doing characters that relate to the common man and why he initially thought Sara Ali Khan won't be a receptive actor

'I have been gaslighted at the workplace'

KARTIK BHARDWAJ

Last year, 'Gaslighting' was chosen as Merriam-Webster's Word of the Year. The said dictionary defines it as "psychological manipulation of a person usually over an extended period of time that causes the victim to question the validity of their own thoughts, perception of reality, or memories and typically leads to confusion, loss of confidence and self-esteem..." It is an appropriate title for a psychological thriller, in which a girl starts questioning her own sanity in the quest of finding her father, a royal patriarch.

Led by Sara Ali Khan, Gaslight, which will premiere on Disney+ Hotstar on March 31, also stars Chitrangda Singh and Vikrant Massey. Vikrant plays Kapil, the trusted aide of the missing 'Rajaji'. In an interview, Vikrant, who has become the go-to actor for everything thriller on OTT, talks about his acting journey, playing characters that the common man relates to and why he initially thought Sara Ali Khan won't be a receptive actor.

You recently spoke about professional gaslighting in filmmaking. What does that term mean to you?

Not just in the world of filmmaking, but also in corporate work environments there is professional gaslighting. It basically happens when a person at the workplace tries to make you feel that you are not good enough.

Is this coming from a personal experience?

Sort of, yes. Sometimes, if a film doesn't land, the blame is deflected on to you. At the start of my career, directors have snapped at me and said, 'You are unable to do this scene, I am going to change it.' One time we were shooting in almost 45 degrees, and a lot of cast and crew members, including me, were fainting. But then, I was made to feel that casting me was a mistake. The makers said their money got wasted and I was not good enough.

Before joining Gaslight, you had a different impression of Sara Ali Khan. You had said that you didn't think she would be a 'receptive' actor. What made you think that?

It was a preconceived notion and I apologised to Sara for it. There is so much noise around certain things that it is easy to get influenced by other people's opinions. I am glad to have been proved wrong.

You have been doing a lot of thrillers lately. Haseen Dillruba, Love Hostel, Forensic, and now, Gaslight Are you feeling at home with the genre?

Actually, quite the contrary. Doing thrillers doesn't come easy for me. Now, after doing so many of them, I have become more aware of things, more mindful. I do not want to approach a character like I have done before. As an actor, I don't want to be repetitive.

Is that the reason you refrain from watching films to get inspired for a character?

Yes, the audio-visual medium influences me a lot so I try to avoid it. Sometimes directors insist that I should watch a certain film or they show me a scene and they want to recreate it. These things restrain you. I mostly try to avoid it but have to watch when it is imperative. Characters are an amalgamation of your life, what you have read and what you have seen. Sometimes you create something new as per the requirement of the script. If you see a character on screen and try to emulate it, your imagination gets limited.

You always play the common man's hero. Be it A Death In The Gunj (2015) or Chhapaak (2017), your characters are more relatable than aspirational. You don't seem like you are looking out to be a star. Did you always want to take this direction in your career?

Even after getting so many films and opportunities, I still try to live like a common man, staying true to my roots. I believe that some of the most spectacular things in life are ordinary. Now, I have the privilege and a position from where I can voice the opinions and portray the life of the commoner. One thing I know for sure is that I want to be the common man's hero. I want to be representing the voice of the voiceless. This is one way of giving back to the people who have given me the life I have.

MOTHER AND CHILD

Film: Motherland

CINEMA WITHOUT BORDERS

In this weekly column, the writer introduces you to powerful cinema from across the world

NAMRATA JOSHI

Dedovschina is a Russian word that translates as "reign of grandads". It refers to an informal ritual in the Soviet army of seniors bullying the young conscripts, presumably to make men of boys. Long after the dissolution of the Soviet Union, the brutal, and at times fatal, practice persists to this day in the Republic of Belarus.

Filmmakers Alexander Mihlakovich and Hanna Badziaka bring this institutionalized barbarity to the fore in their documentary Motherland by taking us through the parallel journeys of two individuals: Svetlana Korzhych who is fighting for justice after losing her son lost her son Alexander to Dedovschina and young Nikita confronting the ideas of nationalism, war, and peace on his conscription. Enveloping these two narratives is a larger account of Belarus in a state of violent turmoil in 2020, with mass protests erupting against president Alexander Lukashenko.

Dedicated to Ukrainians and political prisoners of Belarus, the 92-minute co-production of Sweden-Norway-Ukraine bagged the top prize at the prestigious CPH:DOX (Copenhagen International Documentary Film Festival) last week. The filmmakers' intent is to question society's role in furthering the culture of violence by staying silent and tolerant. The two adopt a gently probing approach as they document Svetlana's struggles amid loss and grief and Nikita's dilemmas, anxieties, and conflicts about the future. The camera is intimate but never intrusive, as they get candid, unaware of its presence. It is just as quietly observational when placed in a group of protestors. The violence on the streets, on the other hand, is captured with depth and detail.

There's an inventive use of the epistolary form. A voiceover runs through the film, reading out letters, which incidentally were written by filmmaker Mihlakovich himself to his mother during his military service. These talk about abuse at the hands of seniors and the ideas of family, memories, home, free will, domination and suppression. You can fathom that the army man is a poet-philosopher as he writes about not shying away from conflicts and the importance of resistance, both morally and physically. Ironically, the last letter has the same poet confessing to enjoying the "pleasures of power" as he now becomes the senior to the new crop of conscripts.

Things come a full circle in a similar manner in every thread. Svetlana makes for an inspiring, stoic and strong presence, lighting a candle at the grave of her son, entreating him to rest in peace. His death had been passed off as suicide, with no explanations offered for the bruises on his back. She is clear-eyed: the army created conditions leading to her child being sent home to her in a coffin. However, towards the end, chasing the priests unsuccessfully to get Alexander's grave blessed, we see her break down and cry and yet strive hard to get justice for her son, despite the legal machinery being stacked against her.

For Nikita, the moment of reckoning comes in the form of protests where his friends are taking to the streets while he is called to carry out army orders of a crackdown. As the cops and army get aggressive with peaceful people, vandalize vehicles, and break the law and order themselves, Nikita opts out. He won't be brainwashed.

As the chain of violence and the struggles against it continue, Motherland leaves us with no closures. Only two questions to ponder: "Who are we? What will happen to us and our children?"
